TRUMP SAYS HE MAY LEAVE U.S. IF HE LOSES TO BIDEN

The US President said on Friday night he cannot imagine the prospect of losing the Nov 3 election to Democrat Joe Biden

DON TRAILS HIM IN MOST ELECTION SURVEYS

Addressing his supporters at a campaign rally in Georgia, he said, "Can you imagine if I lose, my whole life, what am I going to do? I am going to say I lost to the worst candidate in history?" Donald Trump has so far refused to guarantee that he will accept a defeat in the election. At present, he is trailing behind Biden in most surveys, even in states that he won in 2016

Sputnik V gets nod for clinical trials

Dr Reddy's to conduct phase 2, 3 trials; Modi calls for effective vaccine delivery system

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@New Delhi

RUSSIA's Sputnik V has become the fourth Covid-19 vaccine candidate in India to receive regulatory permission for human trials.

The vaccine's promoter Russian Direct Investment Fund and Hyderabad-based Dr Reddy's Laboratories on Saturday said they have been granted approval from the Drug Control General of India to conduct phase 2 and 3 human clinical trials in the country.

It will be a multi-centre and randomised controlled study, though details of the number of volunteers and sites involved in the trial are not known.

Earlier this month, the Covid-19 subject expert committee of the Central Drugs Standards Control Organisation had rejected the two firms' proposal to conduct phase 3 trial saying the sample size was "small".

The regulator had then directed Dr Reddy's to submit a revised proposal for the phase-2 and -3 trial in the country.

Sputnik V is currently undergoing phase 3 clinical trials in Russia and the proposed number of subjects is 40,000. Additionally, a phase 3 clinical trial of the vaccine commenced in the UAE last week.

In India, three vaccine candidates, one each by Bharat Biotech, Zydus Cadila and Oxford University (for which Serum Institute of India is a production and distribution partner) are already under advanced stages of human trials.

Meanwhile, Prime Minister Narendra Modi on Saturday suggested developing a vaccine delivery system on the lines of conduct of polls and disaster management while involving all levels of government and citizen groups.

Chairing a meeting to review the pandemic situation and the preparedness of vaccine delivery, the PM also cautioned against any complacency in the fight against the virus and called for ramping up efforts to contain the pandemic. P9

SUBDUED DASARA OFF TO A START

Cultural programmes, as part of the Dasara festivities, kicked off in the forecourt of the Mysuru palace on Saturday with all Covid-19 precautions, including limited gatherings to ensure social distancing. Pandit Vinayaka Toravi (seated) was conferred with the Rajya Sangeetha Vidwan award by Speaker Vishweshwar Hegde Kageri. Army aids rescue in flood-hit K'buragi

RAMKRISHNA BADSESHI
@Kalaburagi

WITH the flood situation in Kalaburagi district turning grim, especially in Afzalpur and Jewargi taluks, the Army has been called in to help with the evacuation of people residing in low-lying areas along the Bhima river. Over eight lakh cusecs of water has been released into the Bhima river from the Ujani and Veer dams in Maharashtra on Saturday, resulting in flooding.

₹10K CR LOSS TO STATE

Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa on Saturday stated that the state suffered losses of ₹9,952 crore in the August-September rain, which damaged 10.7 lakh hectares of crop. He added that relief work will be taken up as per NDRF norms. P4

Bhima river water has entered the holy shrine of Deval Ganagapur in Afzalpur taluk, where the Dattatreya temple is situated and attracts a large number of devotees from Maharashtra, Telangana and Karnataka.

A company of Armymen, comprising 100 personnel and led by Major Martin Aravind, arrived from Secunderabad on Saturday evening and was received by Kalaburagi Additional Deputy Commissioner Shankar Vanikyal at the district border. The company was immediately split into two teams and sent to flood-affected villages of Afzalpur and Jewargi taluks.

Grounded Jet Airways finally gets a buyer

ARSHAD KHAN @New Delhi

NEARLY one-and-a-half years after it shut shop and was admitted under the Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code, Jet Airways has finally found a buyer. Kalrock Capital and Murari Lal Jalan are the new owners of the airline.

Murari Lal Jalan is a businessman with interests in diverse sectors from real estate to mining. Besides India, his investments are in the UAE, Russia and Uzbekistan.

Kalrock Capital, founded by European entrepreneur Florian Fritsch, is a global firm operating in financial advisory and alternative asset management.

Experts feel joblessness in the aviation sector due to the pandemic and poor financial health of aircraft lessors will help the new owners cut costs. For passengers, the resumption of Jet's services will mean competitive fares and more options on international routes.

DOLLS DURBAR IN MYSURU

Though the virus has cast its shadow over the celebrations, it has not dimmed the enthusiasm and fervour of families who display dolls every year

PICS: EXPRESS

K RATHNA @Mysuru

EVERY year, I used to place a board in front of my house welcoming people during the Navarathri festival to have a look at the dolls display," says 63-year-old R Hemalatha Kumaraswamy, a resident of Agrahara.

But this year, there is no such welcome board, thanks to the novel coronavirus. However, the families who display dolls every year are doing so this time too, with the same enthusiasm.

Mysore Pak, Mysore Mallige, Mysore Sandal Soap, Mysore Silk: just a few of the many significant cultural icons of this city. Add the world-famous Mysuru Dasara, these markers are enough to make the city the cultural capital of Karnataka.

The earliest recorded history of the festival here was during the rule of King Devaraya II of the Vijayanagara Empire in the 15th century. And the Wadiyars continued this tradition.

Today, though the virus has cast its shadow over the celebrations, it has not dimmed the enthusiasm of households who display dolls and invite people during this time. They may have scaled down the celebrations, but the vigour, devotion and grandeur are all there while following safety measures.

The 10-day celebrations began on Saturday, and Mysuru's festive spirit can be seen everywhere. Many families who display dolls have decided not to allow outsiders this time round as it will be challenging to maintain social distance.

Hemavathi, resident of JP Nagar, who has been displaying dolls for the past four decades, says: "We are celebrating the festival in the same grand manner. The only difference is we have restricted entry for outsiders, while laying emphasis on health and safety. I start preparations two weeks in advance – I gently unwrap all the dolls which are safely kept in the attic. Even after the festival, it takes a week to again wrap the dolls in newspapers and keep them safe. We use naphthalene balls to protect them from cockroaches."

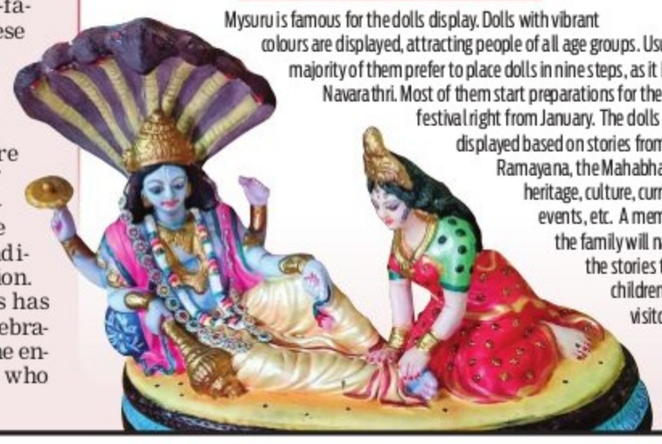
Hemalatha Kumaraswamy, a resident of Agrahara, who has been following the doll tradition for the past three decades says, "Every year, even passersby and strangers would visit our house to see the rows of dolls. I too would be happy narrating the stories. I work in a private company and I used to take leave during this festival time."

Mahesh Kumar, resident of Vijayanagar, says, "I used to visit 10 houses every year during Navarathri. I love the concepts of mythology."

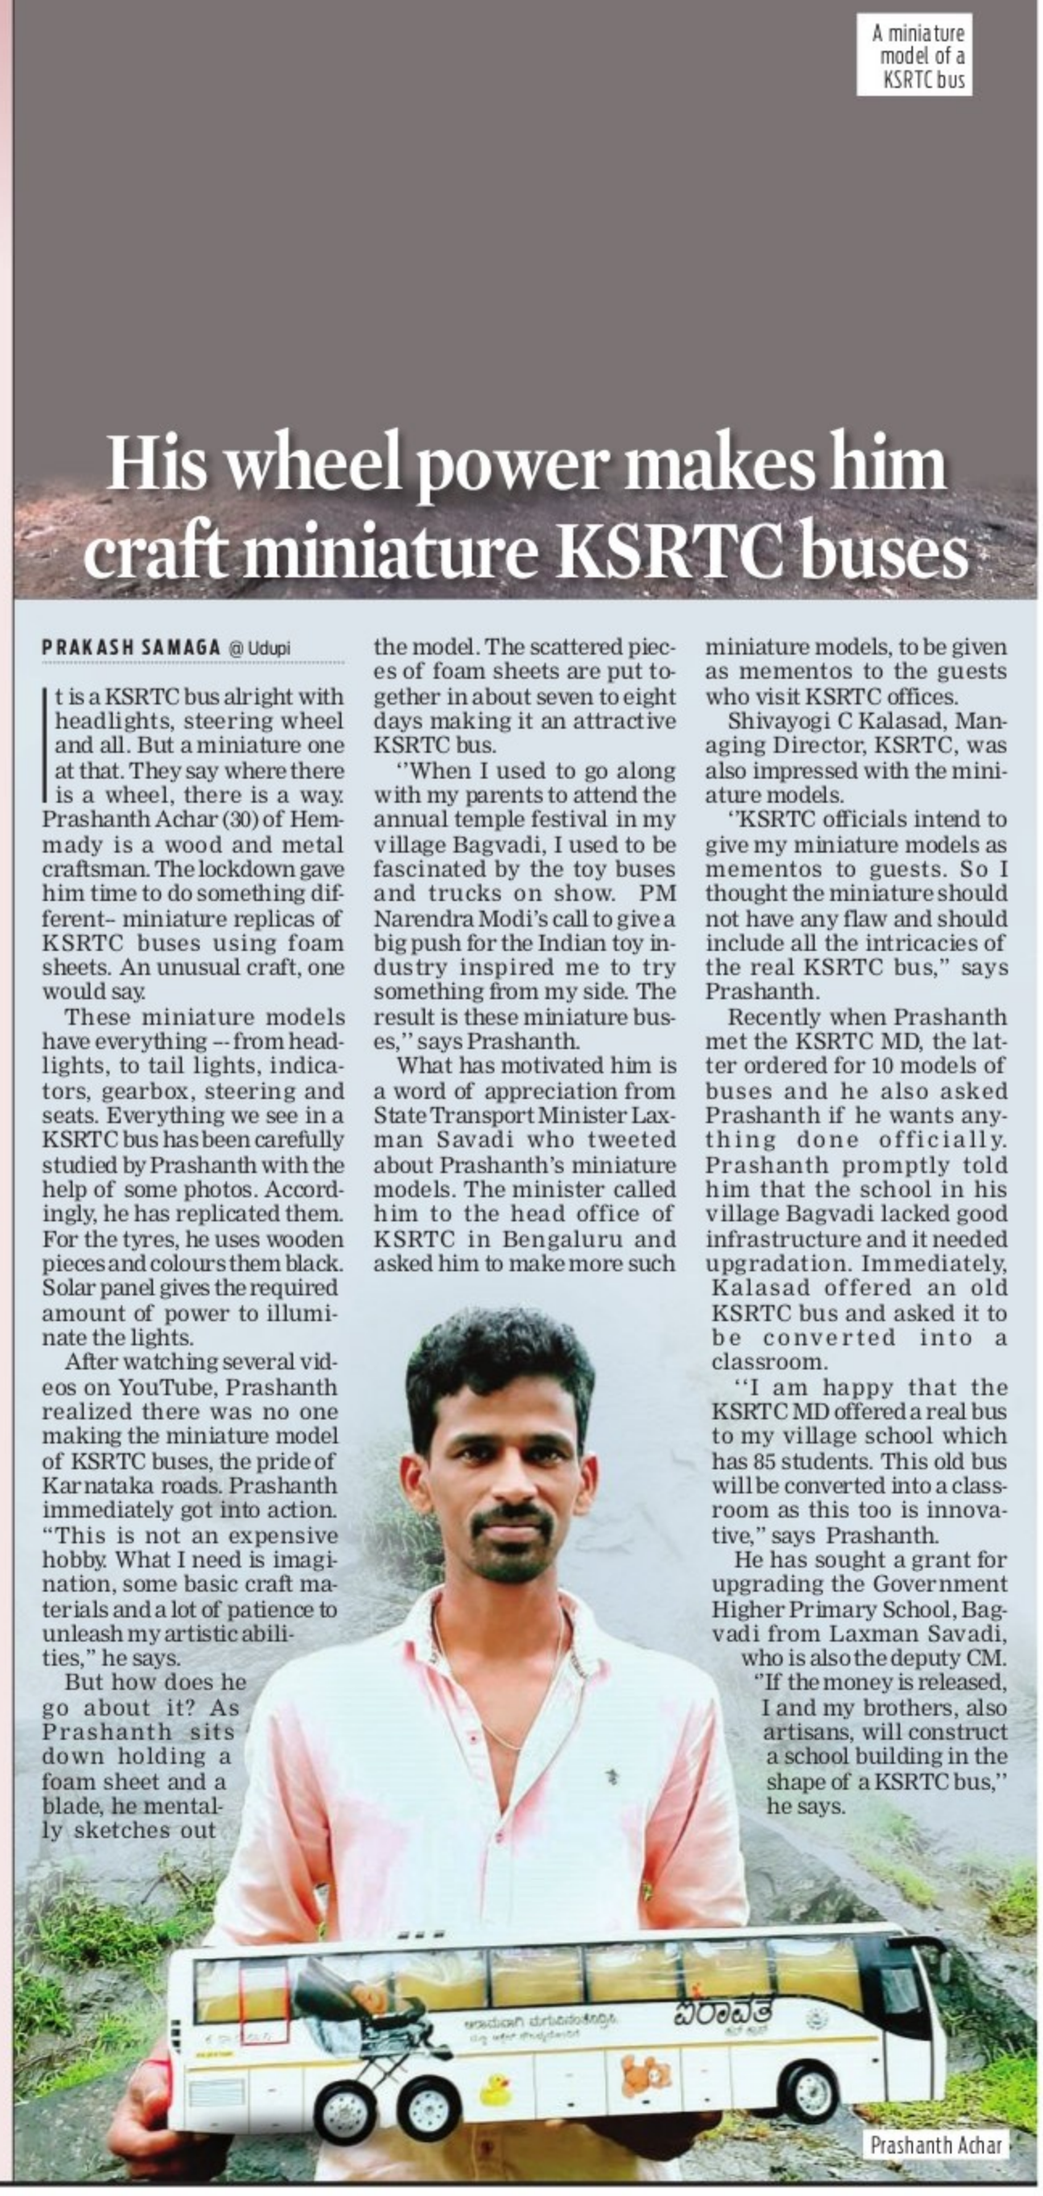
"Navarathri is one such festival where family, friends, neighbours come together which helps to strengthen relationships. There were a lot of celebrations every year and it was also an opportunity to make new friends, invite neighbours and showcase our tradition. This year we have placed a few dolls symbolically," says Shobha, who has been displaying dolls for the past five years.

Sixty-eight-year-old Malini Sathyanarayan, who used to display nearly 30,000 dolls in her house, says, "Navarathri is one of the biggest festivals in our house and we look forward to it eagerly. On an average, over 700 people used to visit our house during this time. However, with increasing Covid-19 cases in the district, we have restricted entry of outsiders to the house and we will place fewer dolls to mark the tradition."

THE TRADITION



Mysuru is famous for the dolls display. Dolls with vibrant colours are displayed, attracting people of all age groups. Usually, majority of them prefer to place dolls in nine steps, as it is Navarathri. Most of them start preparations for the festival right from January. The dolls are displayed based on stories from the Ramayana, the Mahabharata, heritage, culture, current events, etc. A member of the family will narrate the stories to the children and visitors.



A miniature model of a KSRTC bus

His wheel power makes him craft miniature KSRTC buses

PRAKASH SAMAGA @ Udupi

It is a KSRTC bus alright with headlights, steering wheel and all. But a miniature one at that. They say where there is a wheel, there is a way. Prashanth Achar (30) of Hemmady is a wood and metal craftsman. The lockdown gave him time to do something different– miniature replicas of KSRTC buses using foam sheets. An unusual craft, one would say.

These miniature models have everything -- from headlights, to tail lights, indicators, gearbox, steering and seats. Everything we see in a KSRTC bus has been carefully studied by Prashanth with the help of some photos. Accordingly, he has replicated them. For the tyres, he uses wooden pieces and colours them black. Solar panel gives the required amount of power to illuminate the lights.

After watching several videos on YouTube, Prashanth realized there was no one making the miniature model of KSRTC buses, the pride of Karnataka roads. Prashanth immediately got into action. "This is not an expensive hobby. What I need is imagination, some basic craft materials and a lot of patience to unleash my artistic abilities," he says.

But how does he go about it? As Prashanth sits down holding a foam sheet and a blade, he mentally sketches out the model. The scattered pieces of foam sheets are put together in about seven to eight days making it an attractive KSRTC bus.

"When I used to go along with my parents to attend the annual temple festival in my village Bagvadi, I used to be fascinated by the toy buses and trucks on show. PM Narendra Modi's call to give a big push for the Indian toy industry inspired me to try something from my side. The result is these miniature buses," says Prashanth.

What has motivated him is a word of appreciation from State Transport Minister Laxman Savadi who tweeted about Prashanth's miniature models. The minister called him to the head office of KSRTC in Bengaluru and asked him to make more such miniature models, to be given as mementos to the guests who visit KSRTC offices.

Shivayogi C Kalasad, Managing Director, KSRTC, was also impressed with the miniature models.

"KSRTC officials intend to give my miniature models as mementos to guests. So I thought the miniature should not have any flaw and should include all the intricacies of the real KSRTC bus," says Prashanth.

Recently when Prashanth met the KSRTC MD, the latter ordered for 10 models of buses and he also asked Prashanth if he wants anything done officially. Prashanth promptly told him that the school in his village Bagvadi lacked good infrastructure and it needed upgradation. Immediately, Kalasad offered an old KSRTC bus and asked it to be converted into a classroom.

"I am happy that the KSRTC MD offered a real bus to my village school which has 85 students. This old bus will be converted into a classroom as this too is innovative," says Prashanth.

He has sought a grant for upgrading the Government Higher Primary School, Bagvadi from Laxman Savadi, who is also the deputy CM.

"If the money is released, I and my brothers, also artisans, will construct a school building in the shape of a KSRTC bus," he says.

People travelling again, buses see good bookings

PREEJA PRASAD @Bengaluru

THE transport sector is seeing green shoots of recovery with the rise in demand for bus travel, the bus ticketing platform — redBus — has revealed.

Over the October 2 long weekend, Karnataka, Andhra Pradesh, Maharashtra, Tamil Nadu, Gujarat and West Bengal recorded maximum demand for travel in the country, while the top destinations preferred by passengers were Bengaluru, Hyderabad, Chennai, Delhi, Kolkata, Mumbai and Ahmedabad.

The top five routes where redBus is witnessing a significant increase in booking are Bengaluru-Hyderabad, Delhi-Chandigarh, Hyderabad- Vijayawada, Asansol-Kolkata and Gorakhpur-Delhi.

The online platform has seen a rise in first-time customers with the transaction nearly doubling from 11 per cent in pre-Covid times to 21 per cent after the breakout.

Another interesting trend is the willingness of people in Tier-2 and Tier-3 towns to travel, resulting in them contributing around 67% of the current bookings, as they return to their workplaces. It was 56 per cent before the Covid broke out.

Some of the Tier 2 and Tier 3 cities with high demand for bus travel apart from Bengaluru are Jaipur, Gorakhpur, Indore, Visakhapatnam, Kalaburagi, Rajkot, Malda and Guwahati.

Buzz gone, Covid casts shadow over Dasara fete

TEAM ENS @Bengaluru

THE festival season has begun. But the raging Covid-19 pandemic has taken the sheen off the festivities for the first time probably in a century.

In a first again in the last 42 years, the Canara Union Association in Malleswaram has seen no bookings of its premises for Durga Puja this year. Members of Prabasee Association, which books the premises for religious and culture programmes, besides offering various delicacies, say the pandemic and the restrictions have forced scaling down of activities, compromising the celebrations.

Across Bengaluru and state too, the festivities are low key. Even Garba and Dandiya events, wherever held, will be with strict restrictions as no more than 100 people are allowed.

The authorities are even more cautious as the Ganesh Chaturthi in Karnataka (August 22) and Onam in Kerala (August 22 to September 2) pushed up numbers, adding to the Covid tally.

While Kerala is witnessing a second surge in Covid cases, Ganesh Chaturthi pushed up numbers in Karnataka with intermittent single-day spikes of 9,000-plus cases, and then even up to over 10,000-plus on some days —something not witnessed prior to that, according to the state Covid war room data.

A similar trend of increase in cases was noticed during the Varamahalakshmi Puja (July 31) when thousands gathered to buy flowers near KR Market in Bengaluru.

For Mysuru Dasara, termed as Nada Habba (Festival of the State), the administration has restricted the entry of people to the 10-day festivities at Chamundi Hills to 200 and to Mysuru Palace for the famous Jumboo Savari to 300. Despite that, crowds thronged the famous Devaraja Market in the Culture City. There was no social distancing, and many were without masks while bargaining with vendors.

More than the celebrations, the authorities are engaged in ramping up tests by including mobile testing booths and measures like mandatory testing for vendors in busy areas, said Shiraz Ahmed, Nodal officer for Covid-19 testing in Mysuru.

Subdued celebrations

Dasara is a grand celebration at Dharwad and a series of programmes, both religious and cultural, used to be organised over nine days, concluding with the Jumboo Savari on Viajaya Dashami Day. This time, event organisers are in a dilemma as the administration has prohibited large-scale celebrations.

The Durga Mata Doud (a marathon), conducted during the Dasara, is unlikely to be held this year. The marathon, usually run by women devotees, is held in the morning hours.

During Deepavali, Kobbari Hori Habba or Hatti Habba (bull races) is common across Haveri district. But as large crowds are likely to gather, the administration is unlikely to allow this too.

In Belagavi, Karnataka Shiv Pratishtan Hindustan's Durga Mata Doud usually sees hundreds of participants, but the number participants has been restricted to only six per day.

The large population from Rajasthan and Gujarat, settled in Belagavi, is also unlikely to take part in the Garba and Dandia, which are grand dance events every Navaratri.

The state government is imposing restrictions on mega Kannada Rajyotsava celebrations in Belagavi which will prevent thousands of Kannadigas from landing in the city on November 1.

The Dasara procession on the final day of Navaratri on October 26 in Mangaluru and Madikeri will be devoid of tableaux and will see minimum folk troupes. The authorities had initially also banned Tiger Dance in the procession, but following stiff resistance it was allowed only on temple premises. Efforts are being made to restrict the number of people attending it.

The authorities had made Covid-negative certificates mandatory for those taking part in Karaga and Cauvery Theerthodbhava that took place in Kodagu on Saturday.

BIG PICTURE

Kudroli SriGokarnatheshwara Temple in Mangaluru which is celebrating "Namma Dasara - Namma Surakshe" has banned children below six at all Navaratri celebrations, besides making masks compulsory for the participants.

The Udupi district administration is planning to conduct Covid tests of vulnerable sections, like shopkeepers, staff of banks, salons, restaurants among others, during festivities.

In Shivamogga, cultural programmes and state-level wrestling competitions held every year besides the grand elephant procession from Sakrebailu Elephant Camp have been scrapped. The city corporation is holding festivities without fanfare this year. There will be religious rituals on all nine days, but no cultural programmes. The events are being telecast live, so people can watch it on TV instead. District Health Officer Dr Rajesh Suragihalli said that organisers have been asked to strictly follow the guidelines.

Covid times: Muted start to Dasara fest

Dr Manjunath seeks martyr tag for doctors who succumbed while fighting the pandemic

K SHIVA KUMAR @Mysuru

THE famed Dasara festivities, which have a history of four centuries, was inaugurated with strict Covid-19 protocols on Saturday. Opening the nine-day festivities atop Chamundi Hills by offering flowers to the bedecked idol of the presiding deity Chamundeshwari, placed in a silver chariot, noted cardiologist Dr C N Manjunath said, "I pray to the goddess for a Covid vaccine, health of citizens and relief for the state from the flood."

Dr Manjunath, who is also part of the government's high-level committee on Covid-19 management, spoke at length about the need to defeat the virus to mark the victory of good over evil, which is the essence of the Navarathri festival.

Manjunath said opening the Dasara festivities was "one of the most precious moments" of his life. He said it was a token of appreciation to the medical fraternity which has lost 500 doctors, 700 nurses and several paramedical staff to the pandemic. He also urged the government to give letters of appreciation to all those involved in Covid-19 duties.

"The government must consider the doctors who lost their lives while fighting the virus, as martyrs. It's unfortunate that the lifespan of doctors working under stress has been reduced by 10 years," he said.

He appealed to people not to target doctors or damage hospitals as they are striving hard to provide the best healthcare in such difficult times. Stating that there is no protection for doctors in rural areas, he suggested that the government separate education and health from the purview of zilla panchayats.

'BSY is also a Covid warrior'

Thanking the government for felicitating six Covid warriors, including a pourakarmika, a doctor, an ASHA worker, a social worker and a policeman on the occasion, Dr Manjunath said Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa is no less a Covid warrior as he has held nearly 400 meetings without even caring for his own health.

The director of Sri Jayadeva Institute of Cardiovascular Sciences and Research said that the government has done its best, he pointed out that it has set up 150 labs and is conducting one lakh tests every day. However, with the number of positive cases coming down to 7,000 mark, he felt that it's a good sign.

Ban on Mys tourist spots lifted after backlash

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

AFTER severe backlash from stakeholders over the ban on the entry of visitors to various tourist destinations across Mysury, the district administration has revoked the order.

This comes as a respite to travel agents and the hotel industry who were staring at a bleak future after the district administration recently issued an order shutting all tourists spots including Chamundi Hill, Mysuru Palace, Sri Chamarajendra Zoological Garden and Nanjangud Temple from October 17 to November 1 to avoid crowding amid the pandemic.

Announcing this during the Dasara inaugural ceremony, District Minister S T Somashekhar said the issue was brought to the notice of Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa on Friday following which he issued a new order on reopening all tourist destinations across the district. However, he directed all tourists and people to strictly follow Covid norms and guidelines during their visit.

President of Mysuru Travels Association (MTA) Prashanth B S said a delegation comprising stakeholders from the travel, hotel, and hospitality industries met Yediyurappa on Friday evening following which the latter lifted the ban.

The stakeholders had also submitted a memorandum to the Deputy Commissioner's office urging authorities to reconsider the decision. The delegation welcomed the CM's decision and thanked MLA S A Ramadas and Somashekhar.

State facing twin problems of Covid and rain damage, total loss put at Rs 9,952 crore: BSY

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Mysuru

CHIEF Minister B S Yediyurappa on Saturday said that Prime Minister Narendra Modi called him over phone and enquired about the flood situation, promising all help from the Centre. "This has come as a boost for us to handle the situation effectively," he said while speaking after the inauguration of Dasara festivities here.

He said that Revenue Minister R Ashok has visited flood-hit areas and ordered shifting of villagers affected. The state has suffered losses of Rs 9,952 crore and standing crops in over 10.7 lakh hectares have been damaged due to rains and floods in August and September. Around Rs 37 crore has been released towards flood relief and deposited into Kalaburagi deputy commissioner's personal account. Relief works will be taken up as per the guidelines of National Disaster Response Force.

Yediyurappa said that the state has been struck by twin problems of Covid and floods. The state has come out of lockdown and is celebrating Dasara festivities without denting the image and tradition of the festival. "I have prayed before Goddess Chamundeshwari to save the country and state from the pandemic," he said, lauding the efforts of doctors, police, Asha workers, social activists and pourakarmikas.

Responding to a plea to provide drinking water and develop tanks atop Chamundi Hills, he said that the government will release Rs 7.5 cr for the development of Devikere Herikere at the Hills. He said that the pipeline work, repairing of footsteps, lighting will be completed and funds will be utilised for the overall development of the hills.

3 taluks may be hit by flooding of Bhima river

ADDITIONAL Deputy Commissioner Shankar Vanikyal said the Army teams reached the critical spots on Saturday night itself and are assisting the local police and fire fighting force in evacuating people from the affected villages.

District Fire Force Officer Parashuram told TNSE that the personnel are shifting villagers of Bandarwad, Bhosga, Tellur, Hiriyal, Kodaganoor, Shivoor, Sheshagiriwadi and Udachana villages to safer places or to relief camps. Evacuating the people of Udachana and Bandarwad villages is in progress and the Army will assist the local rescue team in speeding up the process, he said.

According to the Kalaburagi district administration, about 157 villages of Afzalpur, Jewargi and Chittapur taluks may be affected by the flooding Bhima river. The evacuation process has been completed in about 55 villages in the first phase and 15,078 people have been moved to relief centers (Kaalaji Kendras).

NDRF personnel get ready for flood relief works in Vijayapura on Saturday

NDRF men shift over 400 families in Vijayapura district

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Vijayapura

THE flood situation worsened in parts of Indi and Sindagi taluks of Vijayapura district on Saturday as Bheema river continued to flow in full spate and recorded an inflow of 7.8 lakh cusecs at Sona Barrage.

The district administration sought the help of National Disaster Response Force (NDRF) personnel to shift over 400 villagers staying close to Bheema river to a safer place.

The NDRF teams swung into action at the crack of dawn at 15 villages, including Moratagi, Tarapura, Byadgihala, Kamasagi and Kadani villages.

A district administration officials said, "As many as 27 villages have been flooded – 10 in Sindagi, five in Indi and three in Chadachan taluks. In all, 401 families have been shifted to safer places and 1,861 people have been accommodated at relief centres. No causalities were reported."

Deputy Commissioner P Sunil Kumar said, "We called in NDRF teams as the inflow at Sona Barrage was going up by the hour. We are tackling the situation and not taking any chances."

Sources said that the Bhima river is rising as Maharashtra has released excess water from Ujjani dam.

District in-charge minister Shashikala Jolle is scheduled to visit flood-affected areas in the district on Sunday.

Rain damage pegged at ₹378cr in Dharwad

MALLIKARJUN HIREMATH @ Dharwad

INTERMITTENT, but heavy, rainfall over the last three months has caused a big loss in the district. Four people have died and property worth Rs 55 crore has been damaged, while crops worth Rs 323 crore spanning over 56,000 hectares have been destroyed. Last year, the district had suffered a loss of Rs 700 crore.

District administration sources said that the district is ready to tackle any kind of calamity, including flash floods.

"Taluk-level heads are prepared and we are creating awareness among people in rural areas about the rain. We are in contact with rescue teams and are identifying local swimming experts for any immediate help," they said.

In all, 1,274 houses have been damaged, their survey is almost complete and the staff will soon send a report to the government. "The compensation to the kin of those who died has reached the beneficiaries," an officer said.

Residents in the twin cities alleged that the administration is focussing only on rural parts while ignoring urban areas. The 8 ft-deep drains, especially in low-lying areas, are filled with silt, causing floods in adjoining properties. "But these incidents are not being considered seriously," they said.

SUNDAY INTERVIEW

Surya: BJP of tomorrow is Yuva Morcha of today

RAMU PATIL @Bengaluru

BJP MP from Bengaluru South Tejasvi Surya is taking charge as the party Yuva Mocha president on Monday. He has clear priorities, including expanding the party footprint in states where the BJP is not strong, helping it win an 'ideological battle' in West Bengal and training Yuva Morcha members to be effective political activists. "The BJP of tomorrow is Yuva Morcha of today," he told The New Sunday Express. Excerpts.

■ What are your priorities as Yuva Morcha president?

The BJP has always expanded its footprint through ideological sangarsh. From two to 303 MPs, it has been a constant ideological battle. West Bengal and Kerala are very important to us. Victory here means victory of our ideology as these states were traditionally Communist bastions. My priority is to ensure an ideological victory in Bengal, consolidating our base in areas where we are strong and reach pockets of the country where we are not strong, whether it is Tamil Nadu, Telangana, Odisha or the North East. Yuva Morcha will work as a bridge between the government and people, and ensure that every programme of PM is successful by making it a people's movement. The BJP of tomorrow is Yuva Morcha of today.

■ Generally, youth are averse to politics. How do you plan to approach them?

Talented young people coming from modest backgrounds always feel that they will not get enough opportunities and success in politics because political parties function as dynastic entities. The BJP is an exception. Young people can feel confident that if they join politics their hard work, talent and effort will be recognised and they can be successful. Dynastic politics was the biggest disincentive for young people. Now that the BJP is breaking the mould at every level, it infuses confidence among youngsters and encourages them to invest their time and energy in politics.

■ As Yuva Morcha president, what is your role in Bihar and West Bengal elections?

Whether it is Bihar, West Bengal or any other state, it is important to give a political voice to the aspirations of young people. As a youngster who shares the same aspiration, I feel I can connect with them and together we will work for a better future for ourselves and the country.

■ Your first rally in WB turned violent...

The rule of law has been kept under suspended animation in WB. In the last two years, over 120 BJP workers have been murdered by TMC activists. Any form of democratic protest is not allowed, and the challenge before us is to save democracy and save the rule of law. We took out a peaceful rally demanding a corruption-free government, better employment opportunities and graft-free public sector appointments. But it was subjected to cruel police brutality by lathicharge, teargas shelling and even throwing of country bombs. Writing on the wall is clear and the BJP will form the next government in WB.

■ You came under fire for calling 'Bengaluru epicentre of terror'...

My statement was deliberately misconstrued. My intention was to ensure that Bengaluru does not become a terror hub and that it should be protected. Over the last few years, there have been many arrests from Bengaluru, and it is becoming clear that elements from South India are using Bengaluru as a safe haven. DJ Halli and KJ Halli riots exposed the underbelly of this module. The Congress and JDS may have compulsions of vote bank politics, which prevents them from going hard on terror. But for me, the priority is the safety of Bengalureans.

■ Your critics accuse you of being divisive and often making politically incorrect statements.

Unfortunately, in our political discourse, saying the right thing or speaking the truth is being termed as politically incorrect. This has to change.

■ Congress accuses BJP MPs, including you, of not taking up state issues like GST compensation and flood relief with the Centre...

They don't understand the basics of how GST Council functions. It has representation from all states, decisions are taken unanimously and the interest of every state is protected. Karnataka has always been a top priority for the Centre as it is the economic powerhouse. Bengaluru got the NIA centre and suburban rail project that was pending for the last 30 years. On devolution of funds, we have never been shortchanged. Also, look at investment by way of smart city projects, highways, IIITs and other institutions.

Ministers busy with bypolls, not in flood relief: Cong

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Bengaluru

THE opposition Congress on Saturday slammed the state government and district in-charge ministers for not taking adequate measures to help people hit by heavy rain and floods in the North Karnataka region.

"District in-charge Ministers have not visited flood-hit districts to help people, but are busy with the bypolls. The government must immediately rush to help those people," said former chief minister and leader of opposition in the Assembly Siddaramaiah.

"The government did not take our suggestions on taking precautionary measures to prevent the floods seriously. Damage caused by floods in Kalayana Karnataka region is to the extent of Rs 10,000- Rs 15,000 crore," he said, and accused the ministers of being busy in RR Nagar and Sira, but not helping those affected by floods. Voters in these constituencies will teach them a lesson in the elections, he added, hitting out at BJP MPs from Karnataka for not asking the Centre to come to the aid of flood-affected people.

AICC general secretary in charge of Karnataka Randeep Singh Surjewala said that hundreds of people in North Karnataka have lost their houses, property and crops in the worst floods in the last 30 years. However, state or central ministers have not visited flood-hit areas, he said. He urged Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa to visit these areas and take necessary measures to help people and also announce compensation to those who lost their houses and crops. He urged the Centre to release funds to the state government to take up relief works.

State Congress president D K Shivakumar requested the state government to immediately release Rs 1 crore each to taluks hit by floods to take up urgent works. The government must give Rs 5,000 compensation to families that lost foodgrains due to floods, he said and added that compensation for crop loss must be given within a week.

CT Ravi likely to be relieved after Kannada Rajyotsava

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

BJP National General Secretary C T Ravi who has tendered resignation as Kannada and Culture Minister is expected to be relieved of responsibilities after Kannada Rajyotsava Day celebrations on November 1. His resignation letter submitted on October 2 is pending with Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa.

It's been a couple of weeks since Ravi was inducted into Team Nadda as national secretary. He was reportedly told to look after party work in Karnataka and other southern states till the party appointed in-charge general secretaries for these states. Ravi has already started travelling to different states to strengthen the party in South India.

Sources from the Chief Minister's Office said that the CM wanted Ravi to continue till the Rajyotsava Day as Kannada and Culture Minister. "Ravi's resignation is expected to be accepted by November 3," sources said.

Meanwhile, though preparations for the Rajyotsava awards ceremony are going on, the state government is in a dilemma on whether to go ahead or postpone it due to the pandemic. In 2008-09, when Yediyurappa was Chief Minister, Rajyotsava awards were not announced, citing heavy floods. But in the subsequent year, awards were announced and given for both the years.

Ravi said that they were aware of the pandemic and referred to other big events (like the Dasara celebrations) which were not cancelled. He said that this year the department got more than 1,500 applications for awards.

To commemorate 65 years of the formation of Karnataka State, the number of awardees too will be the same number. "Sixty-five is not a big number. For people who cannot make it or are vulnerable to the pandemic, we can make arrangements to deliver the awards to their doorstep through the concerned DCs," Ravi said.

Bypolls: Cong leaders woo JDS local leaders

ASHWINI M SRIPAD @Bengaluru

AHEAD of the November 3 bypolls, Congress seems to be wooing local JDS leaders in RR Nagar and Sira assembly segments. Over 450 JDS leaders from these constituencies joined Congress in the last one week.

According to a senior Congress leader who didn't wish to be named, those who had joined the party were various office bearers of the JDS, local leaders and party workers. "Their joining Congress is significant in these bypolls because many of them are prominent Vokkaliga and Kuruba leaders and both the constituencies have a good number of voters from these two communities," the leader said.

Ramesh Babu who is contesting the upcoming MLC elections from Congress switched from JDS and joined the party a few weeks back. Kusuma, daughter of senior JDS leader Hanumantharayappa, not only joined the party but is also contesting on the Congress ticket from RR Nagar.

Prof Harish Ramaswamy, political analyst, said, " This is because JDS is more family-centric. Sooner or later, it will hit them." "The old Mysore region sees D K Shivakumar (KPCC president) as the alternative Vokkaliga leader, all these days it was only Deve Gowda. Shivakumar's popularity increased after he became the KPCC president. This is why more number of JDS loyalists are shifting to Congress. The trend is likely to continue till BBMP elections next year where a few local leaders and former councillors from JDS are expected to join Congress," Prof Harish said.

In 2015, despite the Congress ruling the State, it could not be in power in the BBMP on its own. "This time, this trend will help the Congress. These local leaders joining Congress will help the party," he said.

Chief Minister B S Yediyurappa on Saturday said that Prime Minister Narendra Modi called him over phone and enquired about the flood situation, promising all help from the Centre.

SHOOTOUT CASE SOLVED

4 held for killing bar owner, gang rivalry motive

Two accused shot at after they attack policemen during recovery of weapon

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FOUR members of a gang were arrested on Saturday for the sensational murder of bar owner Manish Shetty, who was shot and hacked to death on Thursday night. When two of the accused were being taken for the recovery of a murder weapon, they attacked the policemen, who opened fired and injured them.

Manish Shetty (45) was killed by bike-borne assailants in full public view in front of his bar off Brigade Road in the Central Business District. The gang first shot at him using a single-barrel breach-loading gun and then hacked at him four times with machetes.

The arrested have been identified as Shashikiran alias Munna (45) and Nitya Shetty alias Nikki (29) from Somwarpet in Kodagu, Ganesha (39) from Mangaluru and Akshay (32) from Bantwal.

A senior police officer said a special team, headed by an assistant commissioner of police from the Cubbon Park police station, picked up two of the accused, Munna and Akshay, from a lodge in Gandhinagar on Saturday afternoon. They were taken to Barlane Cemetery on Hosur Road around 6.30 pm to recover the machetes used in the crime. But the two tried to attack the policemen when the officers opened fire and neutralised them. The injured duo was taken to a nearby hospital for treatment.

The officer said that the investigators tracked the two with the help of CCTV footage and found out that they had booked a room at a lodge near Majestic a week ago. The accused had observed the movements of Manish Shetty before attacking him on Thursday.

Five more accused are being traced. Preliminary investigations revealed that Nitya and Manish were involved in gang war in Mangaluru and had nurtured a rivalry for the last several years.

Gang observed Manish's movements

The prime accused, Shashikiran and Nitya, hatched a plot to murder Manish four months ago. On Thursday night, Ganesha was riding the bike, while Nitya, who was on the pillion, opened fire at Manish. Akshay attacked him with a machete.

IMA fraud: CBI files charges against 2 IPS officers

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Central Bureau of Investigation has filed a supplementary chargesheet against 28 accused in the estimated Rs 4,000 crore I Monetary Advisory (IMA) fraud case before the designated court in the city. The accused include two serving IPS officers — Hemant Nimbalkar, Additional Commissioner of Police, Bengaluru City (Administration), and Ajay Hilori, Superintendent of Police, Karnataka State Reserve Police (KSRP).

The others who have been chargesheeted include M Ramesh, then police inspector of Commercial Street police station, Bengaluru; Gowri Shankar, then sub-inspector at the same police station; E B Sridhara, then DySP (CID-Economic offences wing); Mohammed Mansoor Khan, MD and CEO, IMA (who is in jail); L C Nagaraj, then Assistant Commissioner, Bengaluru North sub-division, some private individuals and entities related to the IMA scam.

The CBI has alleged in the supplementary chargesheet that the then revenue officer, late Vijayshankar and police officials had closed the enquiries/verifications conducted by them into the complaints and information received against IMA. The accused did not take necessary action under law, including the Karnataka Protection of Interest of Depositors in Financial Establishment (KPIDFE) Act, 2004, and instead gave a clean chit and recommended closure of the complaints stating that IMA had not indulged in any illegal acts.

The CBI also alleged that IMA's illegal activities continued and several thousands of investors lost crores of rupees. It had registered four cases and had earlier filed several chargesheets.

"The Department in November 2018 issued a public notice, warning investors against the IMA, following which, Mansoor Khan had issued a public rejoinder and started releasing full-page advertisements in newspapers. The matter was referred to the CID," said an officer.

The CID had given a report stating it did not find any shortcomings and it had not received any complaints from IMA partners/investors

HC dismisses mining firms' petitions

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Karnataka High Court on Friday dismissed a batch of criminal petitions seeking to quash the November 2016 order of the CBI Special Court which directed that charges be framed against them for illegal extraction and transport of iron ore.

Justice John Michael Cunha dismissed the petitions filed by Shree Mallikarjun Shipping Private Limited, its Managing Director Satish Sail, and Prem Chand Garg, Shri Lal Mahal Limited, and Sushil Kumar Valecha.

The petitioners contended that there was no material to frame charges against them, and sought to be discharged.

"I do not find any error or infirmity in the impugned orders... I do not find any justifiable reason to interfere with the impugned orders," Justice Cunha said.

The case relates to illegal extraction of 50.79 lakh metric tonnes of iron ore from Karnataka's forests between January 1, 2009-May 31, 2010.

Seized drugs, ganja from Alva's house, says CCB

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

THE Central Crime Branch (CCB) has told the Karnataka High Court that they have certain materials in support of registering an FIR against Aditya Alva, son of former minister late Jeevaraj Alva, in the drugs case. It has filed the statement of objections in response to Alva's plea seeking to quash the FIR registered against him.

The CCB has stated that they have seized narcotic tablets and some quantity of ganja from Alva's residence in Hebbal during the raid. Alva was also arranging parties and one of the persons circulating drugs which has come in the evidence of other accused, it alleged. The offences alleged against him are cognizable in nature, it said.

Justice Suraj Govindaraj, who heard the matter on Friday, adjourned the hearing to November 13.

In his petition, Alva challenged the FIR registered by the Cottonpet Police on September 4 under the provisions of the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act and IPC. He claimed the complaint registered against him does not mention the commission of any cognizable offence said to have been committed by him.

Alva, who holds Masters Degree in International Diplomacy and International Law from the SOAS College, London, and a Bachelor's degree in International Politics from the University of San Francisco, claimed that he was a realtor.

He also stated that he hails from a respectable family of politicians who made significant contributions to the state.

K'taka sees a decline in NEET attendance

PEARL MARIA D'SOUZA
@ Bengaluru

Karnataka saw a 13.51 per cent decline in attendance at NEET, as compared to last year. In 2019, 1,15,931 students had registered for the exam, of which, 1,02,735 students attended, taking the attendance percentage to 88.61. Of this, 63.25 percent qualified for NEET.

This year, 89,359 students out of 1,18,978 registered appeared for the exam. Of these, 61.56 percent qualified.

The National Testing Agency on Friday evening announced the results for National Eligibility Cum Entrance Test. It saw an attendance of 85.57 per cent of 15,97,435 candidates who had registered for the test, conducted on September 13 and October 14.

Student helped by CM Yediyurappa clears NEET

Tanuja Kareegowda, a student who Chief Minister BS Yediyurappa and Medical Education Minister Dr K Sudhakar helped attend the examination, has cleared NEET scoring 586 out of the maximum 720. Tanuja, a student of Navodaya School in Shivamogga, and the daughter of Nagraj, a farmer, could not attend NEET in the first instance as she had developed Covid symptoms and her house was in a containment zone. When NTA was directed by the Supreme Court to conduct the re-examination for students who had missed it the first time due to the pandemic,

Tanuja was among the candidates who heaved a sigh of relief. She, however, faced difficulties in submitting her documents in time due to technical glitches and was at the verge of losing her chance to take the exam. She reached out to the chief minister and medical education minister over social media. The two intervened, asking officials to allow her to write the examination.

Jagan writes to Shah, seeks ₹1K cr flood aid

Rain in Andhra Pradesh caused damage to standing crops, roads and halted the transport system, says CM

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayawada

Chief Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy on Saturday sought Rs 1,000 crore immediate flood relief assistance to the State. In a letter to the Union Home Minister Amit Shah, Jagan Mohan Reddy said the torrential rains and floods caused huge loss in the State and also appealed to Shah to send a Central team to Andhra Pradesh for estimating the losses. "The rains and floods added more woes to the State, which is already suffering financially due to Covid. The State needs the support and handholding of the Centre to provide much-needed relief to the people of the State," Jagan said.

Stating that the State experienced heavy rains from October 9 to 13 under the influence of deep depression in the Bay of Bengal, the Chief Minister said that the rains and floods paralysed normal life. Besides the death of 14 persons, the rains and floods caused damage to standing crops, roads and halted the transport system, he said.

As per the preliminary estimates of different departments, the loss is estimated at ₹4,500 crore, he said and appealed to the Centre to release ₹1,000 crore as an immediate aid.

With the continuous rains, rivulets and streams were flooded, resulting in severe damage to the roads, power supply and infrastructure. Also, the farmers suffered a grave loss with massive crop damage during the harvesting season losing all of their income. Besides having continuous rains in the State along with the neighbouring states Maharashtra, Telangana and in upper catchment areas of Krishna basin, major inflows were received at Prakasam Barrage. The State government had taken swift measures by shifting the people from the flood-affected areas to relief camps providing all the necessary help, he explained.

He informed that on October 13, Polavaram of East Godavari district received a maximum rainfall of about 265.10 mm.

Rain shows no mercy on Hyd

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Hyderabad

EVEN before Hyderabad could get up on its feet following the floods that wreaked havoc just three days back, heavy rains of 12cm and above lashed many parts of the city on Saturday.

The weather conditions leading to these rains in Hyderabad are abnormal, said India Meteorology Department officials speaking to Express, as Ghatkesar in the city's outskirts recorded highest rainfall in the state on Saturday at 15.7cm and within Greater Hyderabad Municipal Corporation limits, Uppal recorded 15.3cm.

Miserable scenes associated with the heavy rains in Hyderabad witnessed just couple of days back repeated, as motorists remained stuck in long traffic jams across many stretches of waterlogged roads and low lying residential areas got inundated with rainwater. There were still more than hundred locations in the city that remained inundated, as the heavy rains lashed on Saturday. The disaster Response Force of GHMC on Saturday asked the residents to remain indoors.

Security guard held for killing friend

Bengaluru: Byadarahalli police on Friday arrested a 21-year-old security guard of an apartment for killing his friend over a trivial issue. The arrested has been identified as Rahul Kumar alias Chotelal from Uttar Pradesh. A senior police officer said that on September 5, the victim, Kedhar Sahani, who was working as a painter on the apartment premises, had a fight with Rahul for befriending his wife. An upset Rahul later went to Sahani's room and found him sleeping alone. He then bludgeoned Sahani's head with a gas cylinder and dragged the body. Sahani's wife filed a missing case and told the police about Kedhar's fight with Rahul. Rahul was arrested from his friend's house.

CCB arrest 5 over cricket betting, ₹21 lakh seized

Bengaluru: The CCB police on Saturday raided four places and arrested five bookies, who were involved in IPL cricket betting. A hunt is on to trace other members of the betting racket. Police said they arrested Balaram Reddy and his associate Nagendra in KR Puram and seized ₹10.5 lakh cash and 12 mobiles. The police tracked their movements and found out that they were contacting punters through phone and social networking sites. In Whitefield, the cops arrested a financier, Girish, who also received IPL bets. ₹5 lakh cash and two mobile phones were recovered from him. Another accused Lokesh was held and ₹2 lakh cash was recovered. In Varthur, Zameer Ahmed was arrested, and ₹4 lakh was recovered.

Man who consumed spurious liquor dies

Idukki: Another person, among the three, that fell ill after consuming spurious liquor at a homestay at Chithirapuram near Vellathooval here died early on Saturday. A team seized the mobile phone from Prajeesh's residence at Edappal. Officials said the phone will be subjected to digital forensic.

Get your duplicate SSLC marks cards in five days

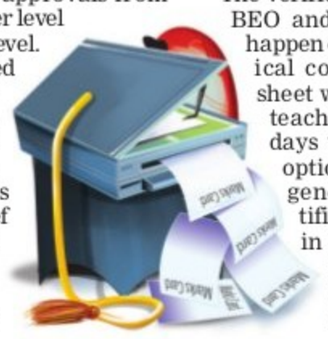
EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

GETTING a duplicate copy of lost SSLC certificates will no longer be a lengthy affair. The Karnataka Secondary Education Examination Board (KSEEB), which conducts the SSLC examination, has digitised the process to enable students to get their duplicate certificates in just five days from the date of application.

The Tatkal process is enabled due to the whole backend process, including approvals from the head teacher level to the KSEEB level. Those who failed the SSLC examination also can avail their certificates. This comes as a relief to many who, due to various reasons over the years, including relocation, may have lost their certificates. "One had to physically visit the SSLC board, produce the documents, which would then move from one level of the department to the next, causing months of delay," said a source.

The Tatkal system requires candidates to first apply online with their documents and make a payment online or offline. Candidates then have to submit a copy of the documents to their respective school head teacher.

The verification from HM to BEO and DDPI level will happen online, and a physical copy of the marks sheet will be at the head teacher's office in five days under the Tatkal option. On a non-emergency basis, the certificate will be ready in 30 days. Students can avail duplicate marks sheets up to four times.



Survey to mark K'taka-Andhra border restarts

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @Ballari

THE survey to fix the inter-state border between Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh in the Ballari reserve forest area was restarted on Saturday on directions from the Prime Minister's Office. A team of the Survey of India officials visited the border area and is expected to submit a report to the Centre soon.

According to officials, many of the inter-state boundary markers in the villages of Tumati Vithalapur, Malappanagudi and Siddapur have been destroyed. The process of identifying the border will be taken up afresh. The survey work resumed after mining activist Tapal Ganesh wrote to the PMO over the delay in fixing the border near Tamati and Obulapuram.

Ganesh told The New Sunday Express that the boundary marking will be done as per the Supreme Court order.

In 2006, a mining company encroached upon some areas in Tamati on the Karnataka side and Obalapuram on the Andhra Pradesh side by changing the boundary markers. "To fix the inter-state boundary accurately, the Apex Court asked the Survey of India to conduct a survey," he said.

"As officials did not take the matter seriously, I wrote to the PM's office and got a positive response. Now, the inter-state boundary marking process has restarted and I hope the wrongdoers are punished," he added.

Karnataka and Andhra Pradesh officials, with a Survey of India team, inspect the inter-state border in the Ballari reserve forest area on Saturday | EXPRESS

CIVIL SERVICES MUST ABIDE BY CONSTITUTION

THAT the the nation is facing unprecedented political, economic and social upheavals is self-evident. The cascading events of the past few years (and the past few days) eloquently convey these inner fissures of Indian polity. While the socio-economic and political aspects of these tectonic disturbances are discussed (though insufficiently and fractiously), the administrative and moral dimensions are hardly ever the subject of national concern. Behind the occurrence of every instance of atrocity against women, children, Dalits or other vulnerable sections or hunger, deprivation or denial of justice, there is a clear failure of the administrative machinery. However, in the din that surrounds every event that attracts media attention, the discourse gets polarised on political lines. The responses are also political in nature.

Even the most horrendous of such failures attract nothing more than a few token actions like suspensions, transfers and the announcement of a commission of inquiry. (Or, at best a CBI inquiry.) Seldom do the Governments go beyond this kind of tokenism to find the system failures and other structural weaknesses. The political compulsions in a volatile situation are to contain it with minimum political damage. Despicable acts of violence, injustice and failure of the administrative machinery keep recurring with loathsome and shameful frequency because the root causes are unaddressed. The buck stops with political management.

OPINION

Writer is a poet and former chief secretary, Kerala

Governance takes place through several instruments. Political executive, of course, has all the powers of the state. Then, there are the higher civil services and police force and the whole network of government functionaries with specific responsibilities. District being the most pivotal unit of administration, the District Magistrate continues to be a very important functionary despite the emergence of other power centres like the elected local bodies. People still look towards the District Collector/Magistrate as the visible symbol of Government. No government functionary has absolute powers; yet there are specific powers and responsibilities vested on each of them. They have the responsibility to discharge these specific duties 'without fear or favour'. However, what we have been witnessing is just the opposite — discharging duties with fear and favour.

At the grassroots level, the ruling political party, the locally powerful groups and individuals do influence the administrative machinery to compromise on free and fair service delivery and law enforcement. Exposed to such pressure continually, government employees at the field level begin to believe and behave as vassals of the political party in power. Eventually, the ordinary citizen (bereft of power or proximity) ceases to expect fairness from administration. In a democracy with a permanent bureaucracy, this is a corrosive and perverse phenomenon. Service organisations owing allegiance to political parties lend legitimacy to this partisan slant of the bureaucracy, meant to be free and fair.

This rot has shown itself in the DM's behaviour in the abhorrent incident at Hathras. The gang-rape and killing of a 19-year-old Dalit girl in itself is the height of criminal violence and brutality. But the callousness with which the district administration behaved in the hasty cremation at night and the subsequent insensitive treatment meted out to the devastated family are far too shocking. It has been reported in the media that the DM intimidated the bereaved family and wanted them to make milder statement. If that is true (I wish it isn't) the decay from within seems to have reached a terminal stage.

A young person joining the Civil Service has to necessarily take an oath at the Lal Bahadur Shastri National Academy of Administration that he/she shall always uphold the Constitution, and abide by it in discharging official duties. If what is reported is true, the Hathras DM has violated his oath. He seems to have attempted to deny the family of the victim equality before law (Article 14), freedom of speech (Art. 19), protection in respect of conviction of offense (Art. 20) and protection of life and personal property (Art. 21).

Civil servants are duty-bound to truthfully implement the policies and programmes of elected governments, and work under the political executive. But bureaucracy is neither designed nor expected to behave as bouncers of the ruling party. Of course, there are always individuals who are willing to crawl when asked to bend. But if crawling becomes a behavioural pattern, it is time to panic. Every conscientious civil servant should be able to distinguish the political wishes of a government from its policies and programmes. Bureaucracy is paid and maintained to implement Government's programmes and not to oblige the partisan wishes of political parties or further their agenda. The developmental and the political agenda might overlap at times, but the officialdom should be able to discern government's programme from political agenda. This distinction is alarmingly becoming thinner by day; it might soon disappear leaving no trace of demarcation.

Beyond the pulls and pressures of political exigencies, civil servants have to constantly ensure that their actions are aligned with Constitutional values. The sense of helplessness at the steady loss of freedom in decision-making that is enveloping the higher civil services is a tragedy with multiplier effects. This freedom has to be redeemed at individual and collective levels.

THE THRILL OF CHANGING COLOURS

POINT OF VIEW

T J S GEORGE

KUSHBOO has joined the BJP. So did Veerappan's daughter Vidyarani some time ago. Giving the forest brigand the honour due to him, the BJP made his daughter the State Vice-President of the party's Youth Wing. Kushboo cannot expect the same high status as Veerappan's family, but she is sure to be accommodated soon in a responsible position of leadership. Vidyarani will certainly help the fresh entrant to settle down to the colours she has adopted with the ease of a lizard.

Kushboo is no household name, so a quick introduction may be in order. She is known as a filmstar in Tamil country. More than 200 movies have not raised her to the status of Rekha or Suhasini or Revati. One reason could be that she is not what she appears to be. She is not a Tamil or even a South Indian. She is a Bombay Muslim, originally named Nakhat Khan. There is no problem with that. Whatever problem she has is on account of the fact that, unlike Rekha or Suhasini or Revati, she chose to become an active politician. It's a golden rule that, if you enter politics, you should be ready for brickbats. Once you demand political positions, you should be ready for public scrutiny of everything about you.

So Kushboo's political hop-step-and-jumping is legitimate subject for public examination. She definitely had an eye on political office. Her lizard-like aptitude for changing colours brings this out. She joined the DMK during Karunanidhi's days when that party was in and out of power. Karunanidhi's son and heir M K Stalin sidelined Kushboo whereupon she joined the Congress. She didn't get what she wanted in the Congress either. Now, probably as a last resort, she has joined the BJP. What can the BJP give her when it is not even an also-ran in Tamil Nadu politics? If she gets nothing from her newest party, what then?

Kushboo's problem, apart from being a non-Tamil, is that she is known as "efficient, ambitious and arrogant". Unfortunately that is a combination of qualifications that does not attract followers while it detracts one's value in the eyes of party bosses. Kushboo is in search of a party that adjusts to her personality and gives her what she wants. Who does she think she is, Jayalalitha? It is astonishing that she thinks the BJP will give her what other parties could not.

Given the BJP's irrelevance in the thought processes of Tamil people, Kushboo is a loser. If the BJP thinks it can gain a foothold in Tamil hearts through her, it too will be a loser.

This is where the foolishness of Kushboo's move becomes obvious. It will not be wrong to say that Kushboo has bargained away whatever goodwill she had acquired in her adopted state. In her home state, she would have been either ignored or pushed into the anonymity of a crowd. As a "Tamilian", she gained a name and a habitation in Chennai. She should have studied how and why this unique experience came her way. But political ambitions led her astray. By joining a party that is genetically opposed to her religion and is seen as a polarising influence in the country, she has gained nothing and lost a good deal.

Ranjani, a filmland friend of Kushboo, was candid when she said that there should be no surprise if Kushboo joined the CPI(M) tomorrow. "You criticised the PM and his party the other day," she said. "Now you say only Modi can lead India. Doesn't this show you up as an opportunist?"

Ranjani, a filmland friend of Kushboo, was candid when she said that there should be no surprise if Kushboo joined the CPI(M) tomorrow. "You criticised the Prime Minister and his party the other day," she said. "Now you say only Modi can lead India. Doesn't this show you up as an opportunist?"

May be not, let's hope. May be Kushboo's intentions are honourable and she wants to do the best for the country. Quite a few relatives of film personalities are in the BJP camp — some relatives of MGR, of Dhanush and of Ilaiyaraaja. Of all human weaknesses, the eagerness to join a winning side is the most powerful. In football and cricket you cannot do this, but in politics, you are a fool if you don't. India has an honourable tradition in this area. Ever since the game of democracy began, the Aaya Ram, Gaya Ram culture has been an integral part of it. The smart ones always remained aaya, the amateurs were forgotten as gaya.

Kushboo is the newest Aaya Ram. She left the Congress, she said, because "I was not utilised." Since the BJP is helpless in Tamil Nadu, how will it utilise her? Perhaps, something in the Centre? May be a Cabinet post? Hope is eternal, ambition is boundless.

INTERNECINE WAR CRIPPLING INSTITUTIONS

POWER & POLITICS

When God desires to destroy a thing, he entrusts its destruction to the thing itself. Every bad institution of this world ends by suicide —Victor Hugo

SOMETIME in the 2nd century AD, Diocletian divided the Roman Empire into four regions, each ruled by a separate emperor. After a century of stability, it collapsed due to internal divisions, ambitions and avarice. Once, the four pillars of Indian democracy fought together against all outside threats to their credibility. Today, every institution is on a suicidal path, sparked by turf wars.

Last week, Andhra Pradesh Chief Minister YS Jagan Mohan Reddy created hysterical history by writing to Chief Justice of India SA Bobde questioning the integrity of sitting Supreme Court judge Justice NV Ramana, who had previously presided over the Andhra High Court. Ramana is likely to be Bobde's successor. Jagan, plagued by corruption cases, requested the CJI to ensure judicial neutrality. His political confreres turned their guns on the state judiciary. The Andhra High Court struck back by directing a CBI inquiry against the politicians observing that remarks made by "key personnel who are occupying posts of prominence, authoritative and constitutional in nature," has harmed judiciary as an independent institution as part of a "larger conspiracy." And, the Attorney General of India is seeking the SC's intervention for preventing obsessive media trial to influence judicial verdicts.

Maligning has become the national pastime. TV channels are clawing at each other's throats, naming and shaming with threats and abuses— "My TRPs and stories are better than yours". Each one claims sole ownership of the truth. Instead of reigning in the establishment, media mavericks are gagging each other. The media sought more eyeballs by verbally molesting Bollywood actors as drug traffickers. Anchors divided them into nationalists and anti-nationalists. But tinsel town couldn't be silenced. Leading film organisations and stars have approached the Delhi High Court to restrain TV channels and acerbically aggressive anchors from destroying their image with calumny and "media trials".

Institutions have by and large fearlessly protected their reputation and mandate. When Indira Gandhi destroyed the SC's autonomy by ordering the supersession of senior judges during the Emergency, three judges resigned in protest. They didn't fear her draconian detention laws. A few years later, Rajiv Gandhi's government tried to legislatively gag and tame the media. Proprietors and editors irrespective of ideological predilection walked on Rajpath hand in hand, forcing Rajiv to back off. Even in the 50s when press freedom was under threat from the Jawaharlal Nehru administration, it was son-in-law Feroze Gandhi who championed press freedom.

For decades, the judiciary and the media thwarted all attempts by the executive to impose its will and dictate and define the colour and nature of verdicts. Once, the PMO would decide the names of the journalists to accompany the prime minister on foreign trips during the Congress times. Atal Bihari Vajpayee scolded his officials for inappropriate interference in deciding the press list. Manmohan Singh was persuaded to favour some journalists for privileged briefings. Unfortunately, none of the media organisations and owners protested against such political discrimination. Off the record narratives found prominent displays in newspapers and on primetime.

In 2014, Narendra Modi withdrew exclusive privilege from journalists, and forbade free rides on his official plane. Access to the mighty is the primary and premium qualification for journalists to get high-paid jobs. Invisible owners suddenly discovered the goldmine behind visibility and connectivity. Content is replaced by connectivity. Unfortunately, it comes with strings. The executive and the political leadership started bartering access with "exclusive" newsbreaks and interviews. Chief Ministers, Union Ministers and top babus decide the questions and answers along with the name of the writer or the anchor. Journalists carry "followed by" a leader badge on Twitter to show off their exalted access.

The judiciary, too, has been compromised with unprecedented force. Candidates for judgeships cosy up to leaders including the chief ministers and the Union law minister for postings. Chief Ministers would often eliminate the names of 'unsuitable' candidates by procuring adverse intelligence reports. Yet, there were some checks in place which prevented large-scale induction of undesirable elements in the judiciary. Later, the Supreme Court took over full powers for the appointment and transfer of judges to insulate the judiciary from external influence. Its reputation has worsened since then, being blamed for encouraging nepotism and political interference.

Worse, judges have openly declared war on each other. It started when four Supreme Court judges addressed a press conference questioning the functioning of their own. Ironically, some of them would go on to follow the same model of management. The caste, community, class and relationship system of choosing judges is intact. Never before has such a large number of judicial pronouncements been questioned like now. The Indian judiciary is still independent and fair. But, greed for post-retirement sinecures has eroded its independence.

If the fear of the unknown devil leads spineless sycophants to bend, the fault lies with those who crawl. The credibility of the Indian institutional framework can be protected only if retired civil servants, judges and journalists decline government positions and favours

The Congress first set the wrong precedent by nominating a former CJI to the Rajya Sabha. This opened the door to others to grab political and gubernatorial assignments. The judiciary failed to assess the damage of the creation of multitudinous judicial tribunals, to its credibility. For the sake of fair justice and quick redress, successive governments acting on the advice of bureaucrats created over 200 semi-judicial bodies.

The media and the judiciary aren't the only institutions to fall. The Election Commission, the Human Rights Commission of both the states and the Centre, the Central Information Commission, the National Commission for Women, the child protection panels, the minority commissions, the cultural and educational bodies and the sports organisations are falling like ninepins. They rarely fight for their mandate. They fight for individuals. Cultural forums are promoting cults and caste. Secular gloss is their only yardstick for justification. Set up to defend India's diversity, they have adopted appeasement of the worst kind. The UGC and the state education boards have been used to destroy the country's cultural and religious diversity.

The Election Commission was established to conduct free and fair elections. For the past 20 years, its reputation has eroded substantially because it hasn't followed a consistent voting model. The EC was downgraded after TN Seshan displayed and used its impressive constitutional powers. The Congress converted it into a three- member panel and blunted its bite. Later on, the party started rewarding Election Commissioners with political posts in government. Manohar Singh Gill, a former election commissioner, became a Rajya Sabha member and a minister in the Manmohan Singh's Cabinet. Information Commissions set up to ensure transparency have been compromised by the conduct of politically chosen officials. All the posts are occupied by retired civil servants, journalists and opinion makers.

The blame for institutionalised suicide lies at the doorstep of those chosen to lead. Some believe the current leadership is responsible for the calamitous collapse of institutions. No doubt, every leader likes to consolidate control through divide and rule. If the fear of the unknown devil leads spineless sycophants to bend, the fault lies with those who crawl. The credibility of the Indian institutional framework can be protected only if retired civil servants, judges and journalists decline government positions and favours. Sadly, India is passing through a phase in which individuals are surviving and thriving by sabotaging the very institutions they serve.

The Empire is striking back. The Jedi of Indian democracy has fallen out, leaving the universe to the mercy of a control freak Darth Vader.

Repurposed drugs

If HCQ doesn't work, there are dozens of anti-inflammatory drugs from generations available for repurposing evaluations. Indomethacin is reportedly one such. Massive screening is required. Most of these have a known safety profile and can be put to use if found working. And there is no encumbrances on price or availability. Drug companies have no interest in screening old drugs, as they do not gain from exclusivity. Only public science/medicine institutions have to take up this work. It must be done on war footing. A million and more lives facing extinction are at stake.

Looting of antiquities

This has reference to 'When The Buying By Museums stops, The Looting stops (Oct 17).' The article depicts the illicit trade of antiquities, by acquiring fraudulent provenance of antiquities despite laws checking this — museums being the main buyer by direct buying as well as through gifts and donations. The UNESCO convention covenant and the guidelines by the AAMD, to discourage the black trade are flouted, by distorting the very syllables in the guidelines. The donation route being their favourite method.

Optimism is need of the hour

While your article of the 16th October (A Midnight Pyre for our Economy too?) paints an absolutely dismal picture of our country, I laud TNIE for highlighting regularly the good things happening at micro level across the length and breadth of the country. Like a young girl in a hamlet sharing her phone with her classmates to study their online classes, a corporate house donating phones and laptops to school children and, above all, a centenarian with his 92-year-old wife defeating Covid infection. Keep up the good work and let us count our blessings too.

Food and health issues

This is with reference to "Hunger Index: India ranks 94 among 107 (Oct 17)". The unenviable position India holds among the South Asian neighbours in ranking is deplorable. Based on the percentage of the population that is undernourished, percentage of children under five years who suffer from wasting and stunting, and child mortality, it is clear that the policies of our healthcare and food distribution need to be upgraded steadfast vis-a-vis development and being Atmanirbhar. Sri Lanka ranked at 64 indicates it is better placed than India. Why India is lagging behind needs to be deliberated before another index is out.

Is Kushboo aiming for Moon?

Most of the political floor crossings are made only for self-promotion and no changeover is based on principles and ethics. When somebody does not benefit to the extent of his or her ambition in the existing party, then they can invent scores of reasons to blame that party. I don't think that Kushboo cannot have any valid reason to walk into BJP which she was roasting on fire without any cause just to get into the good books of Sonia Gandhi. But since Kushboo's anticipation of promotion did not get fulfilled, she seems to have changed her loyalties. There is no guarantee that even after she is accommodated in BJP, she will get any post at national level.

Implement law strictly

A 17-year-old girl was allegedly thrashed and raped inside a government college hostel in Jhansi. The incident took place on Oct 11 during the UP Provincial Civil Services preliminary exam at a Jhansi college. On the same day, in yet another incident, a woman was gang-raped and her five-year-old child murdered in Ojha Baraon village in Bihar's Buxar district. Rape is the fourth most common crime against women in India. In such terrifying times, we need to implement the law in letter and spirit. The government should not let the situation worsen.

CJI must look into Jagan's charges, should not be brushed aside: Dave

ANDHRA Pradesh chief minister Jagan Mohan Reddy's letter to Chief Justice of India S A Bobde should not only be looked into but it also gives the judiciary an opportunity to set up a mechanism to deal with questions raised against the conduct of judges, senior advocate and president of the Supreme Court Bar Association Dushyant Dave tells Kanu Sarda*.*

Andhra Pradesh chief minister Jagan Mohan Reddy has alleged that Justice N V Ramana's daughters are involved in questionable land deals relating to the Amaravati capital project because of which Justice Ramana is interfering in the functioning of the Andhra Pradesh high court. Do you think this is possible?
First, I cannot vouch for the truthfulness or otherwise of the contents of the letter of the CM's letter to the Chief Justice of India. But having said that I must say that if one constitutional authority makes a formal complaint against another such an authority, that too containing such serious charges, it must be looked into. The matters alleged can easily be cross verified by an independent person that may be appointed by the Chief Justice. Secondly, the judiciary owes it to the nation to prove that the contents of the letter are false. It must show it is transparent and not opaque, as is generally perceived by many. The judiciary is the ultimate protector of the Constitution of India and the fundamental rights of citizens. To do so well, it must be strong and independent and that is in its own hands. If it fails, democracy fails.

There is a view that Jagan wrote the letter because a Supreme Court bench headed by Justice Ramana is hearing a case relating to MPs and MLAs involved in criminal cases and Jagan is also an accused. Do you think there is a link between his letter and the case?
I cannot speculate about the intent behind writing such a letter. It is undoubtedly most extraordinary that such a letter should be written in the first place. Never in the history of India has this happened. I am sure the CM being an astute politician and the leader of the state had good reasons to take such a step. He must have been compelled to do so after much thinking. Yes, there are cases against pending him and the bench presided over by Justice Ramana has passed orders which affect those cases. It is also a matter of public knowledge that former CM N Chandrababu Naidu has good reason to regain power in AP.

In your view what should be the CJI's next step, does he have to call a full court meeting to deliberate on the letter or does he have to set up an inquiry committee?
I think the CJI is a very responsible and sound leader of the judiciary of the country and he is capable of taking a wise and right course in this matter. I would not like to speculate on his moves except to say that he would be well advised in the larger interests of the nation and the very integrity and independence of this great institution, the Supreme Court of India, that he does act in a just and proper way and not put the matter to rest or simply brush it aside.

What do you think needs to be changed in the present system of appointment of judges? The present controversy alleges favouritism by a senior judge towards other judges.
I am totally against the collegium system for appointing judges to the SC and high courts. I feel since the SC wrested that power in 1992-3 in the appointment of judges, the judiciary has faced far more challenges in the administration of justice than before. The system has many times not been able to appoint the best from those available, appointing on mere seniority, judges who were not the most meritorious and were not very independent. The executive has the last word even today in these appointments. What is needed is a fiercely independent authority to make such appointments, which again is a distant dream in the foreseeable future.

Does the appointment system need more transparency? Why is the Supreme Court not adopting the memorandum of procedure?
My previous answer addresses this question.

What do you think is stopping the Supreme Court from putting in place a proper grievance redressal system?
The judiciary is a very unique institution. It constantly wants to and does remind the nation and all its authorities about transparency and accountability. But when it comes to itself, it is the most opaque and unaccountable body. Nobody knows about the inner functioning of the system on the administrative side. It is shrouded in mystery, including in the appointments of judges to the high courts and the SC. The recent case involving the sexual harassment charge against former chief justice Ranjan Gogoi and the manner in which the SC dismissed it and dismissed the lady from service and then reinstated her after the new CJI took over has sent shockwaves across the nation. Similarly, former Arunachal Pradesh chief minister Kalikho Pul's suicide note naming two former chief justices, J S Keher and Dipak Misra, and the way his widow's complaint was brushed under the carpet leave a lot to be desired while the suicide of Sushant Singh Rajput gives the court the justification to order a CBI probe. No, the system has no room for questioning the personal conduct of judges of the higher courts, much less inquire against them. And I have no doubt it will not be put in place for a long, long time. Jagan's letter offers the judiciary an opportunity to set up such a mechanism forthwith and allay the apprehensions of all citizens that the judges are also under the law.

Many are questioning Jagan for going public with his letter to chief justice S A Bobde. Do you think it was improper of the CM to reveal the confidential letter?
Yes, I definitely feel that the CM should have in all propriety kept the letter confidential. But then even if he had done so, the media puts everything in the public domain so anyway it would have emerged in the public eventually.

CONG TO HIGHLIGHT PATEL'S ROLE IN FARMERS' MOVEMENT

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

WITH the BJP trying to appropriate the legacy of Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel, the Congress has now decided to highlight contribution of Patel, along with former prime ministers Jawahar lal Nehru and Indira Gandhi, to farmers' movement and their rights to take on the Union government over new agriculture laws.

While the three Congress ruled states are set to pass state legislation overriding the farm laws, the party has decided to observe October 31, birth anniversary of Patel and death anniversary of Indira Gandhi as 'Kisan Adhikar Diwas'. The state units have been asked to observe satyagraha and upwaas (fasting) against 'anti-farmer and anti-labour laws'.

"Party leaders may highlight the special contribution of Sardar Patel to the farmers' movement and their rights, particularly in the context of Bardoli Farmer's Movement. Party leaders should highlight how Modi government is attacking the 'Green Revolution' ushered in by Indira Gandhi making India self-sustainable in food security. How the Minimum Support Price carved out by Pt Jawahar lal Nehru is being done away with by the BJP and Modi government needs to be highlighted," said a communication sent to all state units by the party's organisation incharge KC Venugopal.

The BJP has been appropriating Patel at several occasions and Prime Minister Narendra Modi had last year attributed Prime Minister Narendra Modi dedicated the government's decision of withdrawing the special status granted to Jammu and Kashmir under Article 370 to him and that the centre government had fulfilled Patel's dream of full integration of J&K to India.

With the BJP holding farmer yatras to allay fears of farmers' on the laws passed in Parliament, the Congress has asked the state chiefs, party MPs and MLAs to take out tractor rallies, on the lines of Rahul Gandhi, to "demolish the fraudulent farmer yatras being undertaken by BJP and its office bearers".

The party has also asked to hold dharnas to observe 'Mahila and Dalit Utpidan Virodhi Diwas' on October 25 to mark the increasing atrocities against marginalised communities, especially Dalits."Ever since the passing of anti-farm Bills and the Hathras incident, the Congress has been on the streets, fighting for the rights of our farmers and demanding justice for our sister," said the missive sent to state units.

Party leaders should highlight how Modi government is attacking the 'Green Revolution' ushered in by Indira Gandhi making India self-sustainable in food security along with Nehru's contribution

'New farm laws an attack on soul of every farmer'

HARPREET BAJWA @ Chandigarh

CONGRESS leader Rahul Gandhi on Saturday said the voice of farmers was gagged in Parliament, but it will now resonate in the Punjab assembly and echo in every part of the country till the central government is froced to withdraw the farm laws.

During the digital launch of the second phase of the Smart Village Campaign from Delhi, Rahul assured his party's full support to all panchayats, farmers and farm labourers in their fight against the new legislations. If these laws were in the interest of the farmers, why didn't the NDA government at the Centre allow a debate on them in the Lok Sabha and the Rajya Sabha, the Congress MP questioned. Representatives of all the village panchayats in Punjab participated in the virtual launch programme.

Condemning the central legislations as ill-conceived and unconstitutional, Rahul said, "These three laws are an attack on the soul of every farmer of this country, on their sweat and blood. Every farmer and labourer is feeling the pain of this attack." He lashed out at the BJP for 'imposing' the laws without taking people into confidence. Terming the farm land as the foundation of every village, Rahul said the Congress will not allow India's foundations to be weakened.

"If we weaken country's foundation, India will be weakened...When the Congress party fights, we do that to protect and strengthen the foundation. This is the difference between us and the central government... they thrust schemes from the top without talking to the panchayat and the people and their laws weaken India's foundation."

Rahul, Punjab CM kickstart 2nd phase of smart village drive

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Chandigarh

RAHUL Gandhi, along with Chief Minister Amarinder Singh on Saturday kickstarted the second phase of Punjab's Smart Village Campaign (SVC) with the virtual launch of a ₹2,775-crore campaign to power state's rural transformation.

While Rahul launched the campaign from Delhi, the CM and a host of ministers, officials and sarpanches, joined in from a total of 1,500 digital locations across the state, paving the way for execution of 48,910 works. Amarinder said the scheme would lead to the creation of enormous rural infrastructure to raise the quality of life by capitalising on technological advances, as part of his government's rural transformation strategy. He promised adequate allocation for the schemes to be undertaken in the second phase after the successful culmination of Phase-I, launched last year for the execution of 19,132 works at a cost of ₹835 crore.

He said the first phase of the campaign had focused on core areas such as renovation of ponds, streetlights, parks... and solid waste management.

For the second phase, adequate funds had already been transferred to all 13,264 village bodies, Amarinder said, adding that his government wanted to assist house-owners who have temporary roofs with the intention is to provide the rural poor with better housing facilities.

PM calls for quick access to vaccines

Now, 3 vaccines are in advanced stages, out of which 2 in phase II of trial, one in phase-III

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ New Delhi

ON a day the number of active Covid-19 cases came under the 8-lakh mark for the first time after 1.5 months, Prime Minister Narendra Modi reviewed the pandemic situation and the preparedness of vaccine delivery, distribution and administration.

As of now three vaccines are in advanced stages of development in India, out of which two are in phase II of clinical trial and one is in phase-III. On Saturday, a fourth potential Covid-19 vaccine — developed in Russia — received regulatory approvals for human trials.

Indian scientists and research teams, as of now, are collaborating and strengthening the research capacities in neighbouring countries and there are further requests from Bangladesh, Myanmar, Qatar and Bhutan for clinical trials in their countries.

In an effort to help the global community, the PM said, according to a statement issued by the government, that the country should not limit its efforts to our immediate neighbourhood but also reach out to the entire world in providing vaccines, medicines and IT platforms for the vaccine delivery system.

National Expert Group on Vaccine Administration for Covid-19, in consultation with state governments and all relevant stakeholders has prepared and presented a detailed blueprint of vaccine storage, distribution, and administration, the statement added. It also said that the group is now working actively on vaccine prioritization and distribution of vaccines.

PM was reported to have directed that keeping in view the geographical span and diversity of the country, the access to the vaccine should be ensured speedily.

It was also instructed that the planning must include advanced planning of cold storage chains, distribution network, monitoring mechanism, advance assessment, and preparation of ancillary equipment required, such as vails, syringes among others.

Two pan India studies on the genome of SARS CoV-2 in India conducted by ICMR and the department of Biotechnology so far suggest that the virus is genetically stable and there is no major mutation in the virus, the PM was apprised. Officials from the Union health ministry, in the meeting, also gave a presentation on the clear decline in daily cases, growth rate and number of deaths over the past three weeks.

Gold hallmarking centres under lens for pollution, told to seek green nod

RICHA SHARMA @ New Delhi

HALLMARKED gold jewellery comes under the scanner for high pollution footprint. For the first time in the country, all Bureau of Indian Standards (BIS) certified hallmarking and gold assaying centres will have to seek clearance for operations under the Air and Water Pollution Act.

"All the gold assaying and hallmarking centres shall obtain necessary contents under the provisions of Water (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act, 1974 & Air (Prevention and Control of Pollution) Act, 1981 & Hazardous and Other Wastes (Management & Transboundary Movement) Rules, 2016 from the concerned state pollution control boards and pollution control committees," said guidelines issued by the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB).

The CPCB has farmed environmental guidelines to bring such facilities into the environmental regulatory framework. There are no existing guidelines at present for hallmarking centres. The move comes after a case was filed in the NGT highlighting the air pollution caused by acidic fumes in gold hallmarking centres from the process of gold assaying and hallmarking without complying with pollution control norms.

Lead oxides and nitrous funds are generated during cupellation and parting acid treatment respectively. These fumes, if inhaled may pose a health hazard to personals and workers involved in assaying. During the process, scrubbed water with lead containment is discharged.

"BIS may also make it mandatory to have a copy of consents issued by SPCBs/PCCs under Water Act 1974 & Air Act 1981 and Authorization certificates while issuing the BIS certificates. BIS may explore new alternate instrumental methods with low pollution footprint for assaying of Gold," according to the guidelines.

It also offers protection to people working in such units, saying the blood test of a worker should be done once in a year who has worked for at least 6 months in such a facility.

The BIS hallmark is a certifying mechanism to certify the purity of precious metal.

R'than: Gujjars threaten quota stir from Nov 1

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Jaipur

REASSERTING their demands for reservation, a Gujjar 'mahapanchayat' at Peelu Ka Pura village in Bharatpur district have given a 14-day ultimatum to Rajasthan Chief Minister Ashok Gehlot.

If their quota demands are not met by November 1, the community will begin 'Rajasthan Jam' agitation, they warned. Thousands of Gujjars who attended the mahapanchayat demanded inclusion of quotas in the Ninth Schedule of the Constitution, withdrawal of all cases lodged against Gujjars in previous agitations, martyr status to the families of those who died during police firing in earlier agitation and implementation of 5 per cent MBC (Most Backward Class) quota in state jobs.

Market access allowed to Bhutan's products

New Delhi: India has allowed market access to five agricultural products from Bhutan — Areca nut, Mandarin, Apple, Potato, and Ginger — to allow enhanced trade between the two countries. Earlier, only two Bhutanese agri-products — asparagus and cardamom — were listed in the Plant Quarantine Order of India list.

NEET: Rise in students opting for Tamil

SUMI SUKANYA DUTTA @ New Delhi

THERE was a significant drop in the number of candidates who registered for the National Eligibility-cum-Entrance Test (NEET) in some regional languages, but a significant increase in those writing the paper in Tamil and Bengali.

The sharpest drop was seen in the number of students writing the test in Marathi and Odia this year. In 2020, only 822 students registered for the examination in the language, making it the least preferred. Last year, 31,490 students had opted for it. The test, whose results came out on Friday, is held in 11 languages, including English, Hindi, Urdu and eight regional languages. In fact, NEET (Undergraduate) is the only professional examination in which the test is conducted in many national languages.

Gujarati was the preferred language for nearly 60,000 candidates while Marathi saw only 6,258 opting this time. Students with Kannada as a choice for the test also saw a reduction by nearly half. Tamil, Bengali and Assamese saw a jump. Bengali was the choice of 36,593 students in 2010 as against 4,750 in 2019 while the number of students opting for Tamil went up from 1,017 to 17,000.

Overall, out of over 15 lakh students who had registered for the competitive entrance test, over 91% or 1,46,7672 preferred test in English and Hindi. with 79.08% opting for English.

BIHAR DEPUTY CM SAYS NITISH TO BE NDA'S LEADER EVEN IF BJP GETS MORE SEATS; CAUTIONS LJP CAN'T USE PICS OF PM MODI IN POLL CAMPAIGN

BJP not behind LJP's exit from alliance: Sushil Modi

THE NDA will repeat its 2010 performance in the three-phase Bihar elections starting on October 28 and the voters will not be fooled by the opposition's charges of mishandling of the Covid-19 pandemic, the migrants who returned to the state after the lockdown and unemployment, deputy chief minister and BJP leader Sushil Kumar Modi told Rajesh Kumar Thakur.

Post polls, the LJP will be reduced to the status of an independent party because of the lack of stability. Those who accept the leadership of Nitish Kumar will continue in the NDA

Sushil Kumar Modi, Bihar deputy CM

How many seats will the NDA win this time?
Based on our performance, the National Democratic Alliance, led by Nitish Kumar with all alliance partners -- the JD-U, BJP, HAM and the VIP – will repeat the results of 2010 assembly elections. We will win more than two-thirds seats and comfortably continue in power to take the state to new heights of development. We are fighting the polls on the basis of our performance. On the other hand, the RJD-led opposition has nothing to show except a grim record of taking the state into a chaos in their previous avatars. The NDA has the trust of the people in the leadership of both Prime Minister Narendra Modi at the centre and Nitish Kumar in the state.

A recent poll survey says the BJP will get more seats than the JD-U in these elections. If that were to happen, will the NDA leadership continue with Nitish Kumar or will it be reconsidered?
There is and there will be no question about the NDA leadership even if such a situation was to arise. When PM Modi, Home Minister Amit Shah and other NDA allies have already made it clear that Nitish Kumar will continue to be the NDA leader under any circumstances, such questions do not merit any attention.

Will the exit of the Lok Janshakti Party from the NDA impact the NDA performance?
Not at all, the LJP was in alliance with the RJD in 2010 and what was the outcome of those elections? The RJD won only 25 seats and the others didn't matter at all. Post polls, the LJP will be further reduced to the status of an independent party because of the lack of internal political stability. Those who accept the leadership of Nitish Kumar in Bihar will continue in the NDA. The LJP has refused to accept it and has gone out on its own.

It is widely believed that the BJP is behind the LJP walking out of the NDA and that the BJP's target is a post-poll scenario?
This is illogical. The BJP does not believe in this kind of politics. Our alliance is firm and the NDA will get the people's mandate and continue under the leadership of Nitish Kumar. It was the LJP's decision to walk out of the alliance, the BJP has nothing to do with their decision. Other than the NDA, using pictures or the name of the PM in the election is not permitted.

The opposition is raising issues such as unemployment and law and order. What are the issues on which the NDA is seeking a mandate again?
The opposition does not have any issue except creating confusion among the people while the NDA has a record of performances and the people can see it. The opposition's efforts to make issues out of corona, flood, migration and others have proved to be a damp squib. You will see the people's reply in the polls. The state has topped the country in conducting tests for Covid-19 and set a benchmark in the recovery rate. The NDA is fighting the polls on the performances of the last 15 years. We will perform better if voted to power again. As far as unemployment is concerned, the RJD is trying again to mislead the people. The RJD is desperate to come to power to with the help of criminals and promote "loot-khasot kisarkar" (government by loot and embezzlement). Simply put, the RJD is adopting the (Arvind) Kejriwal formula to cheat the voters. The NDA has created employment for lakhs of people and will continue creating employment on a large scale in a transparent way.

Parties are again fielding candidates with criminal background in the polls. Is this right for state politics?
The RJD is credited with fielding a majority of candidates with criminal background. The BJP has not fielded any 'bahubali' (strongman) or a candidate with a criminal background. The RJD has fielded more than 20 musclemen from different seats. This has become their identity. The people know their real character. So, this time a befitting reply will be given by the voters to the musclemen-turned-politicians of the RJD and any other party. The people will not allow the RJD to run a kidnapping for ransom industry in Bihar.

Many regional and smaller parties have forged alliances to take on the NDA this time. Will they have any impact on the NDA's results?
The people of Bihar have become more logical while casting their votes. The NDA has proved its performances in the last 15 years while other smaller parties, including the RJD and others, have done nothing but created turmoil and disrupted the normal life of the people. The smaller parties have not forged alliances but got a kind of political umbrella to stand under. None of them will emerge from the status of a vote-katba (vote splitter). Like the RJD and the LJP they lost their credibility in politics. In such a situation, the NDA is the only reliable and loyal option before the people because of development and good governance.

Will repeal agri laws; spl status for Bihar: GA

RAJESH KUMAR THAKUR @ Patna

TEJASHWI Yadav, the RJD's CM face, on Friday christened the Grand Alliance's manifesto as 'Pran Hamar' (our resolve), which calls for a special status for Bihar and repealing the new farm laws.

"Trump will not come to accord special status to Bihar, which was once promised by the PM," said Tejashwi. Releasing the manifesto along with Congress leader Randeep Singh Surjewala, Tejashwi said the first assembly sitting of the GA government would see annulment of the three farm Acts which, he alleged, defeated the Green Revolution's objectives.

"If elected, the GA will start working to provide jobs to 10 lakh unemployed youths. The government will also waive the agricultural loans of farmers and the exam fees of job applicants," he said. The students going for examinations at various centres will also be given fares by the government.

The 'Pran aur sankalp parivartan ka' (the resolve for change), promises 'equal pay for equal work' for over 4.5 lakh of contractual teachers and enhanced wages for the Jeevika Didis. Tejashawi accused the Nitish Kumar government of committing 60 scams. He also announced setting up of Karpoori Thakur Sharmveer Sahayata Kendra for providing assistance to the workers in addition to raising MGNREGA man-days from 100 to 200 days.

The Congress accused the BJP of being in three-way alliance – with JD-U, LJP and Owaisi's-led AIMIM.

BJP wary of LJP eating into its Dalit vote base

MANISH ANAND @ New Delhi

THE BJP is becoming extra cautious to showcase the BJP-JD(U) unity in the face of the Lok Janshakti Party emerging as a potential spoiler for both the NDA constituents.

The LJP campaign against incumbent chief minister Nitish Kumar is being seen in the BJP as a message for Dalits across the state to vote against the NDA. While the CM hopes to retain the support base among Mahadalits, a classification for a large number of Dalit sub-castes, the BJP is wary of the party's new-found following among Dalits slipping away because of the high pitch campaign of the LJP.

"Paswans among Dalits may consolidate in favour of the LJP along with a few more Dalit sub-castes. By fielding candidates against the JD(U), the LJP campaign is giving a pan-Bihar message. In seats where the BJP is in contention, the LJP campaign may influence Dalits to vote for the Opposition alliance Mahagathbandhan," a senior BJP functionary said. The Muslim-Yadav-Dalit consolidation against the NDA could boost the prospects of the Mahagathbandhan consisting of the RJD-Congress-Left, note political observers.

The BJP has already gone into damage control, holding joint rallies with leaders of the JD(U) to ward off the perception on the ground of the saffron outfit entertaining a Plan-B in the post-poll scenario. The BJP is leaning on the appeal of the incumbent chief minister to transfer the Mahadalit vote base to the party's candidates and ensure unity among workers of the NDA constituents.

The LJP has also put up a few candidates against the BJP in the Bihar polls. Some BJP rebels are also in the fray in a number of constituencies. Besides the two large alliances, smaller parties in regions of their respective political influences are also testing their might, banking on the caste appeal of individual candidates.

Hathras case: Women members of victim's family questioned by CBI

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

ON day five of its investigation in the Hathras gang rape and murder case, the CBI visited the victim's family once again on Saturday and interrogated the women members.

As per sources, the CBI had formed multiple teams to carry out the investigations. While one team visited the victim's family and quizzed the women of the household, including her mother, sister-in-law and others for over three hours, another team at the CBI's temporary camp office interrogated the district hospital doctor who was the first one to attend to the victim after the incident and had conducted her first medical examination.

A third team visited the crime spot while yet another team grilled a youth of the village, Vikram alias Chhotu, who reportedly saw the victim with her mother and brother in his millet field where the incident took place on the morning of September 14.

The three-member team that visited the victim's family was led by the investigation officer deputy SP Seema Pahuja. It held closed door talks with the women and recorded their statements, said the sources.

The team at camp office summoned Dr Ramesh Pal at around 11 am. He had given primary treatment to the Dalit girl and referred her to AMU's Jawahar Lal Nehru Medical College and Hospital. Dr Pal has been quizzed by the CBI twice so far.

Earlier, the team had visited the district hospital where the victim was admitted. When it asked the doctor to furnish the CCTV footage of the victim on the day of admission, he allegedly expressed helplessness saying recordings are preserved only till a week.

'Ready to shift family to my Delhi house'

AAP leader Sanjay Singh on Saturday said he is ready to shift to his residence in Delhi the family of the Hathras victim who died after being allegedly gang-raped. Singh said they do not need to live in fear of the Adityanath government. "They do not need to live in fear of the Adityanath govet. I have conveyed my feelings to the victim's uncle," he said.

Yogi launches campaign for women's safety

LUCKNOW: With a spate in the crime against women and Hatras rape and murder case triggering nationwide outrage, UP CM Yogi Adityanath on Saturday launched a 180-day campaign — 'Mission Shakti' — focused on women's safety from Balrampur.

In Lucknow, the campaign was launched by chief secretary Rajendra Kumar Tiwari, saying Adityanath-led administration was working to ensure a secure environment for women and was open to introducing a new law, if needed.

The campaign will run from October 17-25 in its first phase and will involve awareness. Issuing a stern warning that the perpetrators of crimes against women would be dealt with an iron fist, the CM said the drive was a tribute to the woman who died after being raped by two men in Balrampur and asserted that his government had "zero tolerance" towards crime against women. ENS

₹1,960-cr bonanza for UP govt employees

Lucknow: The UP Cabinet has approved a festival bonanza worth ₹1,960 crore for state government employees in form of a special festival package and a special cash package in lieu of LTC. Both the schemes are based on the pattern of central government schemes, ahead of the festive season, in a bid to boost cash-flow in the market in the remaining months of financial year 2020-2021. While around 15 lakh government staff will stand benefitted by the packages, the state government is likely to incur an expenditure of ₹1,000 crore on the package while a sum of ₹960 crore will be spent on the cash package.

Farm loan waiver, Covid-19 package in Cong's 'vachan patra' for MP bypolls

BHOPAL: Eyeing to bounce back to power after a gap of eight months, the Opposition Congress on Saturday released a 52-point 'Vachan Patra' (manifesto) for the November 3 Assembly bypolls on 28 seats in Madhya Pradesh.

Releasing the manifesto, former CM and state Congress chief Kamal Nath and senior party leader Digvijaya also unveiled a document to prove that out of the 974 'vachans' (promises) made in the 2018 Assembly polls, their government, in 15 months time, had fulfilled 574 promises.

While reiterating it's resolve for re-starting the farm loan waiver (stopped during the present BJP regime), the manifesto had a slew of promises for those who have been hit hard by mismanagement of Covid-19 pandemic in the state. The manifesto also promised to launch a social security scheme under which, if the prime earning member of a family died due to the Covid-19, his widow would be provided pension. It also promised hiking honorarium of Asha and Anganwadi workers, who worked as 'Corona Warriors'.

"Along with the 52 new promises made for the Assembly bypolls, the 400-old promises which remained incomplete will also be fulfilled, after the BJP is thrown out of power by voters in the bypolls," said Nath.

It also promised that the fees of all competitive exams and recruitment tests held for unemployed youth during the pandemic will be borne by the government. ENS

FIR against Kangana for spreading 'communal hatred'

SUDHIR SURYAWANSHI @ Mumbai

ON the orders of a local court, the Mumbai Police on Saturday registered an FIR against actor Kangana Ranaut and her sister Rangoli Chandel for allegedly trying to create a communal divide in the film industry through their social media posts.

The Bandra Metropolitan Magistrate's court had ordered the police to investigate a complaint filed by Munawwar Ali Sayyed, a Bollywood casting director, which referred to Ranaut's and her sister's tweets and other statements. The police registered the FIR under IPC sections 153A (Promoting enmity between different groups on grounds of religion, race, etc.), 295A (deliberate acts hurting religious sentiments) and 124-A (sedition), a police official said. According to Sayyed's lawyer, the complaint alleged that Ranaut has been defaming Bollywood for the last two months by calling it a "hub of nepotism", "favouritism", etc. through her tweets and television interviews.

The complaint also referred to Ranaut's tweet where she referred to Mumbai as "POK" and which led to her public spat with the ruling Shiv Sena in Maharashtra.

Magistrate Jaydeo Dhule observed: "On prima facie perusal of complaint and submission, I have found cognizable offence has been committed by the accused. Total allegations are based upon a comment on electronic media that is Twitter and interviews. The accused used social media like Twitter and thorough investigation is necessary by the expert. All offences alleged and levelled against the accused are cognizable. Search and seizure is necessary in this case, in such circumstances I have found it to be proper to pass an order under Section 156(3) of CrPC."

No Dussehra fairs this year due to pandemic

In the wake of Covid-19, the committees that organise Dussehra fairs in Dehradun have decided to refrain from burning the effigy of Ravana. Shree Ramlila Kala Samiti, which has been organising Dussehra fair in Jhanda Mohalla for 151 years now, has also decided to abstain from Ravan Dahan and will just conduct a recitation of the Sunderkand (one of the seven sections of epic Ramayan). Harish Virmani, president of Bannu community which organises Dussehra fair the Parade Ground, said the death of a patron in the community is also a reason for not conducting the Ravan Dahan.

Rare day-flying moth spotted in Garhwal

Achelura bifasciata, a rare day-flying moth, was spotted in Uttarakhand's Garhwal Himalayas last week. Experts said the moth was last spotted in the Kumaon region in the 1890s following which the sighting occurred last week in Tehri Garhwal district's Sreedev Suman Titli Park, a habitat for butterfly created by local residents. Sanjay Sondhi, the co-author of "Butterflies of Uttarakhand — A Field Guide" and a trustee of Titli Trust, a nature conservation organisation, said the moth was never reported to have been spotted in Garhwal.

Covid-19 success nets New Zealand PM a second term

Ardern's party emerges with unprecedented majority after election

AUCKLAND

PRIME Minister Jacinda Ardern won a landslide victory in New Zealand's general election on Saturday, leveraging success battling Covid-19 into an unprecedented majority she said gave her a mandate for progressive reform.

Ardern's centre-left Labour Party took 64 seats in the 120-member parliament with 49% of the vote, after the youthful, charismatic leader steered the nation through the upheaval wrought by the global pandemic. Labour's main challenger was the the conservative National Party.

Labour was on target to win an outright majority of the seats in Parliament, something that hasn't happened since New Zealand implemented a proportional voting system 24 years ago. Typically, parties must form alliances to govern, but this time Ardern and Labour can go it alone.

Ardern had dubbed the vote "the Covid election" and campaigned on her government's success in eliminating community transmission of the virus, which has caused just 25 deaths in the country.

The pandemic is one of a string of emergencies that tested Ardern's leadership during a torrid first term, after she rode to an unexpected victory in 2017 polls on the back of a wave of support dubbed "Jacinda-mania".

New Zealand PM Jacinda Ardern (R) is congratulated by her partner Clarke Gayford following her victory speech to Labour Party members at an event in Auckland, New Zealand, on Saturday | AP

She displayed both empathy and decisive action on gun control after a white supremacist gunman killed 51 Muslim worshippers in the Christchurch mosques attack last year. Ardern again found herself comforting a shocked nation when a volcanic eruption at White Island, also known as Whakaari, killed 21 people and left dozens more with horrific burns.

Opposition leader Judith Collins conceded an "outstanding result" for Labour and congratulated Ardern on her win.

Ardern was criticised during her first term for failing to deliver on some key promises such as improving housing affordability, protecting the environment and reducing child poverty.

But she said the election had set her up for an active second term. "We have the mandate to accelerate our response and our recovery -- and tomorrow we start!" she said, flagging increased state housing, more renewable energy and other infrastructure investment.

On the campaign trail, Ardern was greeted like a rock star by people who crammed into malls and spilled onto streets to cheer her on and get selfies with her.

Ardern, 40, won the top job after the 2017 election when Labour formed an alliance with two other parties. The following year, she became only the second world leader to give birth while in office.

She became a role model for working mothers around the world, many of whom saw her as a counterpoint to President Donald Trump. Agencies

GOPers fear 'bloodbath' due to Trump

WASHINGTON

AS the polling clouds darken for US President Donald Trump, prominent members of his own Republican party -- Senator Ben Sasse of Nebraska, Senator Lindsey Graham of South Carolina and Senator Ted Cruz of Texas -- are sounding the alarm.

Sasse, in a telephone call with constituents this week obtained by The Washington Examiner, said a defeat for Trump looks "likely" and Republicans may also lose the Senate.

"I'm now looking at the possibility of a Republican bloodbath in the Senate," Sasse said.

Sasse had harsh words for Trump, saying he is "TV-obsessed," "narcissistic" and allowed his family to treat "the presidency like a business opportunity."

Sasse also criticized Trump's handling of the Covid-19 pandemic which has left more than 217,000 people dead in the United States, saying he treated it like a "PR crisis."

Trump and Biden are to hold a final debate next Thursday.

Trump, meanwhile, sought to recover from sinking election polls by campaigning with a hardline pitch to America's right wing, claiming at rallies in Florida and Georgia that his Democratic opponent Joe Biden would deliver communism and a "flood" of criminal immigrants.

While Trump put on a brave face, the fact that he was fighting at all for the two southern states he won four years ago illustrated how much ground he has to make up against Biden in the 18 days left until the election.

With his polls sliding and US Covid-19 infections spiking, Trump is focusing entirely on his core Republican base, in hopes that highly energized supporters will turn ut in huge numbers.

In Ocala, Florida, the coronavirus was an afterthought.

Instead, Trump tossed the large, loudly cheering crowd red meat on immigration, race, and his conspiracy theory that Biden is steeped in corruption.

Spicing his stump speech with lurid exaggerations, Trump claimed that the "Biden family is a criminal enterprise."

Trump had still more venom for journalists, whom he called "the enemy of the people."

And he seemed to acknowledge things might not go his way in the end.

"Running against the worst candidate in the history of presidential politics puts pressure on me. Could you imagine if I lose?," Trump mused.

"What am I gonna do?," he continued. "I'm not gonna feel so good. Maybe I'll have to leave the country. I don't know."

Biden, meanwhile, was campaigning in Michigan where he ripped into Trump's handling of the coronavirus -- the strongest issue of his campaign.

Sharif says army chief rigged 2018 elections

PM Imran Khan lashed out at three-time former premier Nawaz Sharif for accusing the army chief of rigging elections and installing a "puppet government" in Islamabad. Sharif, the 70-year-old leader of the PML-N who was ousted from power in 2017 on graft charges, on Friday for the first time directly named Army chief Gen Qamar Javed Bajwa and ISI head Lt Gen Faiz Hameed for interfering in the elections of 2018 to ensure victory of Imran Khan. Hitting back at Sharif, Khan said on Saturday that the PML-N supremo came to politics by "polishing General Zia's shoes" ' a reference to Sharif joining politics in 1980s during the martial law of then dictator General Zia-ul Haq. On Sep 20, opposition parties launched a three-phased anti-government campaign.

SRI LANKA

All cinemas shuttered

Sri Lankan authorities have ordered the closure all cinemas in a bid to contain an outbreak that has so far infected 1,791 people in the capital's suburbs. The cluster in a garment factory in the densely populated Western province was discovered last week, and is the first in more than two months. Authorities also have tightened a curfew in parts of the country. Over 2,000 other people were asked to quarantine at home. The majority of the infected are co-workers of the first patient. Schools and key public offices are also closed amd public gatherings are banned.

BANGLADESH

Flights to India will resume on Oct 28

Bangladesh is all set to resume flights to India from October 28 under 'air bubble' arrangement, after nearly eight months the communications were suspended due to the coronavirus pandemic, The Daily Star reported on Saturday. Under a bilateral air bubble pact, airlines of both the countries can operate international flights with certain restrictions. Since July, India has established such bubbles with several countries, including the US, the UK, France and Germany. Three Bangladeshi carriers -- Biman Bangladeshi Airlines, US-Bangla Airlines and Novo Air -- would initially operate 28 flights a week, while five Indian airlines -- Air India, IndiGo, SpiceJet, Vistara and GoAir -- would operate 28 flights a week between the two countries.

Lanka monks oppose govt's constitution amendment

COLOMBO

THREE politically influential Buddhist monks have joined the voices opposing the Sri Lankan government's proposed 20th Amendment to the Constitution that aims to bolster the powers of the president, demanding that 20A must be amended to retain the checks and balances of the presidency.

The three monks, who are allies of the ruling Sri Lanka People's Party (SLPP), in a letter to President Gotabaya Rajapaksa on Friday said that the proposed change to the constitution would weaken the position of Prime Minister Mahinda Rajapaksa as well as powers of the Cabinet ministers. They said that the 20A must be amended so as to retain the checks and balances of the presidency.

The move comes days after two Buddhist sects -Amarapura and Ramanna- said that the proposed 20A would destroy the independence of the judiciary, the public service, the system of elections while undermining the independence of Parliament and members of Parliament individually.

The sects asserted that what is needed now is not 20A to reverse the 2015 adopted 19A, but action to formulate a new Constitution by fixing any weaknesses in 19A. The opposition from the monks, who are supporters of the Rajapaksas, has come ahead of next week's parliament debate on the 20th Amendment. PTI

9 arrested after beheading of Paris teacher

PARIS

FRENCH police have arrested nine people over the beheading of a teacher near his school in a Paris suburb, a judicial source said on Saturday, in what President Emmanuel Macron labelled an Islamist terror attack.

The source said the killing was carried out by an 18-year-old Chechen, who was then shot and killed by police near the scene in Conflans-Sainte-Honorine, northwest of Paris.

Police said the victim was 47-year-old history teacher Samuel Paty, who had shown his pupils some cartoons of the Prophet Mohammed as part of a class discussion on freedom of expression -- a lesson that had prompted complaints from parents.

Two of the suspect's brothers and his grandparents were initially detained by police for questioning.

The judicial source told AFP on Saturday that five more people had been detained, including the parents of a child at the school and friends of the suspect. According to the source, the parents had signalled their disagreement with the teacher's decision to show the cartoons.

The attack came as a trial is in progress over the January 2015 massacre at the offices of the Charlie Hebdo satirical magazine, which had published caricatures of the prophet Mohammed that unleashed a wave of anger across the Islamic world. AFP

AZERBAIJAN VOWS RETALIATION OVER KILLING OF CIVILIANS

GANJA

Azerbaijan's President Ilham Aliyev vowed on Saturday to take revenge on Armenia after a missile strike killed 12 sleeping people in the city of Ganja, a dramatic escalation in the conflict over the disputed Nagorno-Karabakh region.

The early hours attack, which also saw a strike on the nearby strategic city of Mingecevir, came hours after Azerbaijani forces shelled Stepanakert, the capital of the ethnic Armenian separatist region.

The explosions in Ganja levelled a row of houses and left at least 40 people injured in an attack Aliyev described as "a war crime". In televised remarks, he said his army would "take revenge on the battlefield" and promised to capture Karabakh by driving out Armenian forces "like dogs".

As the sun rose over the devastation in Ganja, Mayil Shakhnazarov, 36, said it was impossible to identify some of those killed. "What can we say? Our pain is deep. Really deep," he told AFP.

The seeming tit-fot-tat attacks further undermine international efforts to calm a resurgence of fighting between Christian Armenians and Muslim Azerbaijanis and avoid drawing regional powers

Russia and Turkey into a conflict that has killed hundreds of people.

An AFP team in Ganja saw rows of houses in Ganja turned to rubble by the strike, which shattered walls and ripped roofs off buildings in the surrounding streets. People ran outside in shock and tears, stumbling through dark muddy alleys in their slippers, some wearing bathroom robes and pyjamas. AFP

Yes Bank puts three Essel Group assets on the block

The private lender aims to recover dues to the tune of ₹1,500 crore

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

IN an attempt to recover dues worth ₹1,500 crore, Yes Bank has put prime properties belonging to the Subhash Chandra-promoted Essel Group on sale. According to public notices, the lender has put under the hammer two Essel Infraprojects Ltd- owned commercial properties in Mumbai and one bungalow owned by Essel Group's RPW Projects Private Limited in New Delhi. Both these properties were mortgaged to Yes Bank for loans taken by the firm. The e-auctions are proposed to be conducted on November 10, 2020.

The bank has set a reserve price of ₹430 crore for the bungalow located in the Lutyens' Delhi at Bhagwan Das Road. This asset is spread over 2.8 acres. The lender took symbolic possession of the property on June 15,. As per the notice issued by the bank under the Securitisation and Reconstruction of Financial Assets and Enforcement of Securities Interest Act (SARFAESI) Act 2002, Yes Bank is looking to recover dues of over ₹943 crore.

In a separate notice, Yes bank has invited bids for the sale of two other commercial properties owned by Essel Infraprojects in Mumbai to recover dues of over ₹556 crore. The bank has set a reserve price of ₹10.5 crore for each of these properties. Earlier, the Delhi High Court has allowed Yes Bank to auction a property owned by Singh brothers, Shivinder Singh and Malvinder Singh, the former promoter of Fortis Healthcare. The bank had sanctioned two loans of ₹500 crore and ₹565 crore between 2015 and 2017 to companies controlled by the Singh brothers. The loans were declared non-performing assets after a default in July 2019.

Sources said the new board of Yes Bank is on a recovery spree of bad loans given during the tenure of Rana Kapoor.

HDFC Bank Q2 profit up 18.4%, NII rises 16.7%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU
@ New Delhi

THE country's largest private sector lender HDFC Bank has reported a 18.4 per cent year-on-year growth in profit at ₹7,513.11 crore for the September-ended quarter, driven by NII and lower tax rate. The profit in the year ago period stood at ₹6,345 crore. Total consolidated income during the quarter under review rose to ₹38,438.47 crore from ₹36,130.96 crore in July-September 2019, the bank said in a release.

Net interest income, the difference between interest earned and interest expended, rose by 16.7 per cent year-on-year to ₹15,776.4 crore in September quarter, driven by asset growth of 21.5 per cent and a core net interest margin for the quarter at 4.1 per cent, HDFC Bank said in its BSE filing. The continued focus on deposits helped in the maintenance of a healthy liquidity coverage ratio at 153 percent, well above the regulatory requirement

"While the previous quarter largely bore the burnt of the Covid-19 pandemic, some of the softness continued into the current quarter leading to lower retail loan origination, use of debit and credit cards by customers, efficiency in collection efforts and waivers of certain fees. As a result, fees/other income were lower by approximately ₹800 crore. However, the loan and card momentum has improved over the previous quarter, thereby reducing the gap to less than half," the lender added. Gross non-performing assets (NPAs) of the bank fell to 1.08 per cent of the gross advances.

Biden win may throttle US oil production, push up prices to $55 a barrel

JONATHAN ANANDA @ New Delhi

THE US Presidential elections could make things costlier for India in one way at least: crude oil. While the summer's record low prices helped India save over ₹5,000 crore via cheap oil imports, analysts note that if Joe Biden wins, oil prices may start moving upwards again.

According to a Goldman Sachs research note, a Biden-Democratic party win would be "a positive catalyst" for crude prices. "Headwinds to US oil and gas production would rise further under a Joe Biden administration, even if the candidate has struck a centrist tone," the bank's analysts believe. Biden has taken a vocal stand against increased shale mining in the US, and Motilal Oswal Financial Services (MOFSL) analysts say that a Biden administration could lead to more regulatory oversight and costs for the shale sector— not just a clamp down on production.

"Biden also says taxpayer costs can be recovered by repealing the generous tax bonanza that Trump granted US fossil fuels. Forecasts suggest that taxes could increase costs by as much as $5 per barrel," MOFSL analysts noted. Brent oil, which forms a large part of India's crude oil basket, currently trades at $43 per barrel, and WTI crude at around $41 per barrel.

However, if President Donald Trump retains the Presidency, experts believe his pro-shale and pro-fossil fuel stance would essentially mean business-as-usual-keeping prices range-bound in the near term. However, a Biden-win might take WTI to as high as $55 per barrel.

India, in the midst of an economic crisis worsened by the Covid-19, has been fortunate on the oil prices front. While prices have recovered from their April lows of $16 per barrel, they remain nowhere close to the $60 per barrel level recorded at the beginning of this year. The low prices have led to savings in import costs and higher taxes have funneled the gains into central and state government coffers-even as income from other sources has slowed to a trickle. Higher crude prices would choke off this cash flow and weaken the already strained exchequer, unless governments decide to hike taxes. But, a win by the Democratic party might also lead to the opposite. Biden has taken an opposite stance to Trump on the sanctions on Iran and Venezuela. "If sanctions are pulled off, they might re-emerge as significant oil exporters... This might put pressure on prices," says MOFSL.

₹1.08 L cr worth loans sanctioned for discoms

New Delhi: As much as ₹1.08 lakh crore worth of loans under the liquidity package for stressed power distribution utilities have been sanctioned so far, REC said on Saturday. In May, Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman announced ₹90,000 crore liquidity infusion into cash-strapped discoms.

Economic recovery remains fragile: Report

New Delhi: After facing the worst contraction ever, Indian economy is trying to recover but indicators suggest that recovery will be fragile, said Brickwork Ratings, adding indicators such as falling capital expenditure on new projects points towards it. To revive the economy, public spending needs to increased.

GURBIR SINGH

NEWSCOPE

News channel investigators are now the accused

IT'S ironic that the news broadcast industry, falling over itself to rip the dirt under the feet of Bollywood and so many other 'villains', is now itself in the dock on charges of manipulation of audience data, popularly known as TRPs (television rating points).

Over the last week, following complaints by Hansa Research, the agency that collects and processes TV audience data, the Mumbai Police Commissioner Parambir Singh has said Republic TV and two regional Marathi channels had been boosting viewership numbers illegally. The 4-5 employees of Hansa Research arrested by the police spilled the beans: homes who had the monitoring panels of who watches — called bar-o-meters — had been paid to keep their TVs on a few select channels to boost ratings.

This was one of the issues when the older TAM Peoplemeter System that recorded Television Viewership Ratings (TVRs) was replaced in 2010. The new rating agency, Broadcast Audience Research Council (BARC), was promoted by the TV broadcasters — the Indian Broadcasting Foundation (IBF), and the nodal advertising body Advertisers and Advertising Agencies of India (AAAI).

BARC tried to make the system more robust by boosting the number of sample homes from the old, narrow base of just 12,000 to currently 44,000 homes. But now, following the raging controversy, BARC has announced that it is pausing its weekly audience ratings for 8-12 weeks till the system is cleansed. An obvious admission that the malaise of viewership manipulation refuses to go away.

OLD MALAISE

The problem of viewership manipulation is as old as private television, since it launched in mid-1995 in the country. The whistleblower is usually the TV network that is not the leader in the race. In 2000, after Zee TV began losing ground to both Star Plus and Sony, a Zee associate, Ashok Kurian of Ambience Advertising, released lists of 'Peoplemeter Homes' that could be purchased off the shelf. These sample homes could then be persuaded to watch certain channels for a fee. Investigation by the Mumbai Police was launched, and arrests followed. With time, the controversy died away.

More recently, BARC was in the eye of a storm over cable networks 'fixing' the system so viewers go directly to a specific channel. Called the 'landing page' manipulation, it was used by channels to boost eyeballs, BARC admitted. In a countermeasure last month, it introduced algorithms into its data validation method to curb the menace. But not before Times Now and others threatened to go to court.

The scramble for TRPs has to be understood in the context of advertisers almost entirely deciding on the channels they advertise based on the ratings or viewership the channel commands. As it is, news channels represent a small niche, just 8% of the total television universe. And it has come down from 11% a decade ago, which explains the desperation. Yet, surprisingly, of the 850-900 channels licensed by the Ministry of Information & Broadcasting (MIB), almost 400 are registered as 'news channels'!

THE BUSINESS OF NEWS

The revenue data is even more shocking! The broadcasting industry generates about ₹35,000 crore annually from advertising. While entertainment and sports channels earn 15-20% of their revenue from subscription too, news channels are almost entirely dependent on ad revenue. Of the total ad pie, news channels get around just ₹3,500 crore a year. And it is split between 350-400 channels!

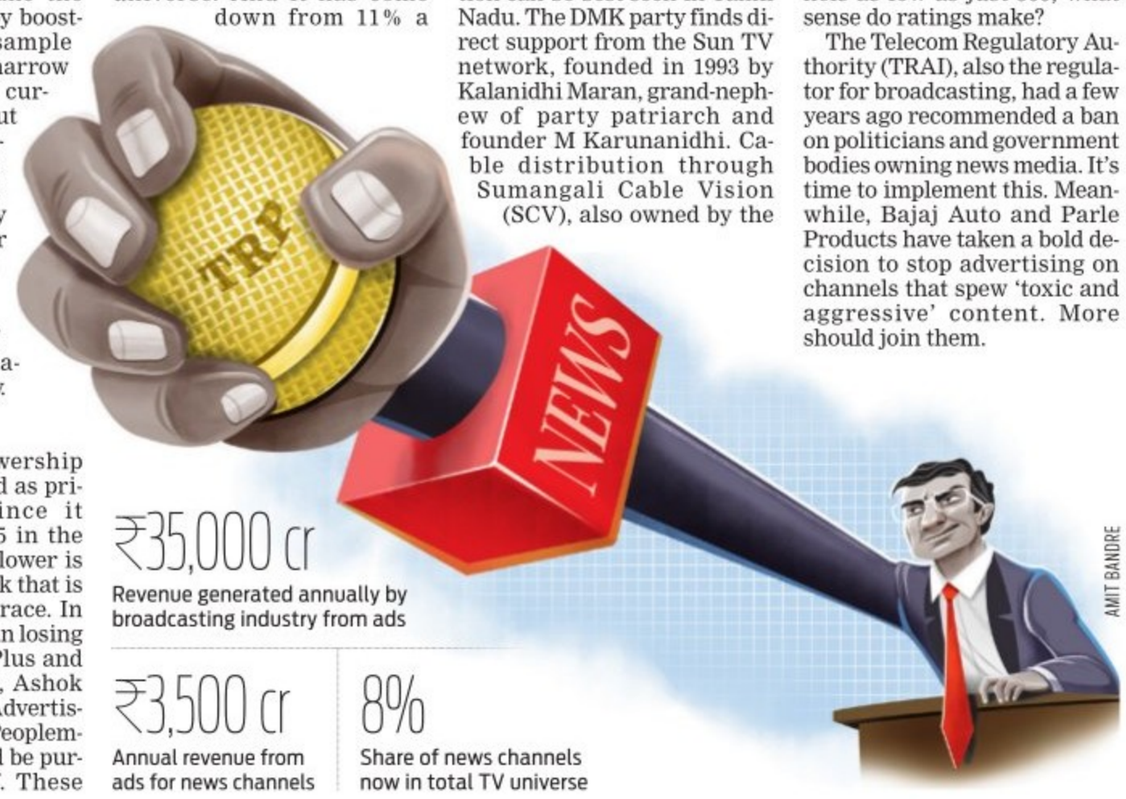
So here's the deal. Many of the news channels are not business operations at all. Some of them are extensions of political parties that finance them. Others are influence seekers.

The classic political equation can be best seen in Tamil Nadu. The DMK party finds direct support from the Sun TV network, founded in 1993 by Kalanidhi Maran, grand-nephew of party patriarch and founder M Karunanidhi. Cable distribution through Sumangali Cable Vision (SCV), also owned by the family, makes the controls tighter. AIADMK founder J Jayalalithaa did not even pretend she had any other agenda when she launched Jaya TV in 1999. Not to be outdone, the Pattali Makkal Katchi (PMK) party's S. Ramadoss floated Makkal TV in 2006; and when actor Vijaykanth entered politics in 2010, he had his own launch pad, Captain TV.

Others have replicated the model too. In Punjab, the Akali Dal chief Sukhbir Singh Badal took control of a cable distribution network called Fastway Transmissions, which today dominates large swathes of Haryana, Himachal Pradesh and even Delhi. Others run channels as power brokers. For instance, in April 2013, Sudhakar Shetty, a small-time builder, and bar owner launched a regional Marathi news channel called 'Jai Maharashtra'. It has little reach, and poor revenues, but it is still on air thanks to the liberal funding it receives.

With BARC having suspended ratings for 2-3 months, now's the chance to clean up. For starters, ratings for news channels should be suspended indefinitely till the new broadcast industry itself is cleaned up. Partho Dasgupta, former CEO of BARC, revealed to this writer he had called for suspending ratings for news channels 3 years ago, but nobody was listening. With sample homes for English news channels as low as just 500, what sense do ratings make?

The Telecom Regulatory Authority (TRAI), also the regulator for broadcasting, had a few years ago recommended a ban on politicians and government bodies owning news media. It's time to implement this. Meanwhile, Bajaj Auto and Parle Products have taken a bold decision to stop advertising on channels that spew 'toxic and aggressive' content. More should join them.



Falling big-ticket manufacturing exports a worring sign for economic revival

JAYANTA ROY CHOWDHURY
@ New Delhi

A classic colonial economy is one which exports mostly raw materials and imports finished goods. During the April to September period, India saw a boom in its exports ranging from rice and cereals to iron ore, while its big ticket manufacturing exports shrank massively.

Though the government is tight-lipped, the trend has more than worried the Mandarins running India's Udyog Bhavan which oversees the country's trade affairs. "It's a worrying business. The fact is our big ticket items like gems and jewellery, ready made garments, leather goods, engineering products, electronics, have all contracted in the range of 15-55 per cent," said top officials. Manufacturing, besides adding value and fetching better returns, creates jobs, which is why India wants to push its share of GDP from 14 per cent to 25 per cent. What has gone up is rice exports by 33 per cent, cereals by 98 per cent and iron ore by nearly 60 per cent. "The only big ticket item which did well was pharmaceuticals, quite understandably because of Covid-19," officials added

In contrast, Vietnam and Bangladesh managed to post positive figures for their exports. The mistrust of China in the global supply chain is potentially positive for India, but till now that mistrust has led to increases in orders from its rivals, not for India. A popular export incentive scheme is being phased out in January and this is adding to the worries of Indian manufacturers'. "The ball is in the government's court. They have to devise some assistance package. Our GST refunds get held up. Delays in shipment due to local lockdowns, delays in customs at ports etc., leads to exporters being labelled 'risky'...," said Sharad Kumar Saraf, President, FIEO.

New owners of Jet set to face many challenges

EVEN as the troubled Jet Airways has finally managed to find a buyer, analysts have warned of many challenges for the new owners. For one, Jet has lost most of its aircraft. Its slots at major airports and traffic rights have also been awarded to other carriers.

Besides, the carrier owes more than ₹8,000 crore to a group of banks led by State Bank of India and YES Bank. Overall, Jet is facing claims of around ₹40,000 crore from various creditors including banks, suppliers and employees. The NCLT has admitted claims worth ₹15,525 crore.

According to sources, the creditors have taken large haircut on their exposure. However, the details of the offer made by Jalan-Karlock to acquire the airline have not been disclosed. Industry estimates suggest that the new owners will have to spend around ₹1,000 crore to acquire a licence, get necessary manpower on board and lease new aircraft to start operations.

Even if everything goes right, it could still take up to eight months to get Jet planes back in the skies, sources said. At present, Jet has only six old aircraft in its kitty. In its prime, the full service carrier used to operate around 120 aircraft with the help of more than 20,000 employees.

Another bidder for Jet Airways was a consortium consisting of Haryana-based Flight Simulation Technique Centre, Big Charter of Mumbai and Abu Dhabi's Imperial Capital Investments LLC.

AB Desert storm hits Rajasthan

De Villiers' late assault helps Bangalore chase down tricky target against Smith & Co

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

AN on song AB de Villiers is a sight to behold. A player who can single-handedly change the course of the match within a few deliveries, Royal challengers Bangalore's decision to send him at No 6 against Kings XI Punjab on Thursday defied logic. Even though it was done to nullify the threat of leg-spinners, their best batsman getting very few deliveries to face made little sense.

On Saturday against Rajasthan Royals, De Villiers showed what he can offer in at No 4. As he took guard in the 14th over, Bangalore were under a spot of bother, having lost Virat Kohli in their chase of 178. Three quiet overs came and went as the asking rate increased to 17.5 by the time Jaydev Unadkat was chosen to bowl the crucial 19th over ahead of Jofra Archer.

De Villiers was on 28 off 16 deliveries, having already hit Archer and Unadkat for couple of sixes. But Rajasthan believed they still had match under their control. Enter vintage De Villiers. On days like this, when he had enough time in the world to pick the spot and send the ball soaring over the boundary line, he can leave you wondering why he had hurriedly called time on his international career.

Unadkat, who was easily India's best domestic bowler in 2019-20 season, learned some harsh lessons as he went for 25 runs to completely change the momentum of the match. The first ball of the 19th was a 94-metre hit over mid-wicket. The next sailed over long on. Length balls are a crime at the death and against De Villiers it stands no chance irrespective of boundary size.

Steve Smith rued the decision to keep Archer for the final over as De Villiers completed the formalities with two balls to spare as Bangalore moved up to third spot, opening a four-point lead over the fourth placed Kolkata Knight Riders.

"He is a freak. Isn't he? That is why he is the greatest of all time. I think what we saw today was another master class. We have seen a number of them (such innings) in that tournament already," said RCB coach Simon Katich in the post-match conference. "We made sure that he batted in his right position today. We have learned from that mistake. He was wonderful and the main reason why we won the game today."

Chris Morris, with his four wicket haul in the first innings also played a role in Bangalore securing their sixth win.

Brief scores: RR 177/6 in 20 ovs ((Smith 57, Uthappa 41; Morris 4/26) lost to RCB 179/3 in 19.4 ovs (De Villiers 55 n.o, Kohli 43).

SRH VS KKR

SEEKING MOMENTUM

There is so much in common between these two teams. Both find themselves amongst a crowd that is fighting for a Play-offs berth. Apart from lacking consistency, both teams have issues with their middle-order which is yet to click. While Hyderabad have a good bowling unit, Kolkata have struggled with the ball as well. SRH start favourites.

MI VS KXIP

BATTLE OF TOP VERSUS BOTTOM

To say Mumbai are high-flying would be an understatement. They are easily the team in form as what ever they have touched as turned into gold. In a tournament where spinners were expeted to call the shots, it is their pacers who have done the job. The same cannot be said about Punjab, who are lanquishing at the bottom of the table thanks to some ordinary performances. Despite having in-form opening combination, their middle-order is yet to make substantial contribution.

Average length of opening partnership (in balls) of MI this edition, second lowest among teams.	No of bowlers used by KXIP this season. Shami is the most successful with 12 wickets in 8 matches.

AFI to hold AGM on Oct 31, Nov 1

NEW DELH: Athletics Federation of India (AFI) will elect its office-bearers during the "in person" annual general body meeting on October 31. The polls were due to be held in April but were postponed due to the pandemic. The AFI had in May deferred its elections and extended the term of its office bearers during a special general meeting, held online. The AGM will be held at Gurugram.

Centurion Dhawan guides DC to victory

Delhi Capitals' Shikhar Dhawan scored a wonderful ton against Chennai in Sharjah on Saturday | SPORTZPICS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

For the second match in a row, Chennai Super Kings batting unit put their hands up and delivered as they set Delhi Capitals a challenging 180 to chase at Sharjah on Saturday. Needing to win at least six of their remaining seven matches, Chennai needed one of their top-order batsman to score big and the in-form Faf du Plessis responded to the call as his fourth fifty of the season gave them a total to defend. However, that was not enough as Delhi won by five wickets. Shikhar Dhawan scored his maiden IPL century. Though the match went down the wire with Delhi needing 17 off final over, Axar Patel made sure they crossed the finish line with three sixes off R Jadeja.

Earlier, though the move to open with Sam Curran didn't come off as he failed to open his account, Du Plessis found an able partner in Shane Watson as the duo bailed Chennai out of the bad start with a 87-run stand for the second wicket.

Brief scores: Chennai 179/4 in 20 overs (Du Plessis 58, Rayudu 45 n.o, Jadeja 33 n.o) lost to Delhi 185/5 in 19.5 overs (Dhawan 101 n.o, Stoinis 24).

Sathiyan begins new normal with win in Poland

AYANTAN CHOWDHURY
@New Delhi

WORLD No 32 G Sathiyan marked his return to competitive table tennis after 224 days with a win. Representing Sokolow SA Jaroslaw in Polish Superliga, the Chennai paddler got the better off AZS AWFIS Balta Gdansk's Szymon Malicki 11-3, 5-11, 11-8, 12-14, 11-5.

The 27-year-old is no stranger to the league having played there in the past but this year things could not be more different. No fans were present inside the arena, fist bumps replaced handshakes and players having to stay in a bio-secure bubble. Umpires with gloves and players picking up stray balls was another novelty.

"Getting back the feeling of playing competitively felt really good. But it was a strange atmosphere to make your return in. Usually European leagues have fans thronging the stadium and it is a highlight of playing here. But with that missing, players had to work extra hard to generate rhythm and momentum. Players here are happy to be playing but there is an air of anxiousness," the Asian games bronze medallist told this daily from Poland.

The league has tried its best to employ a bubble including stationing players close to the different venues, demarcating zones inside the arena, sanitised cars to and fro from the halls. And players also are wary of stepping out of line as the number of cases have recently been on the rise.

"Masks are worn inside the arena all times and sanitisers are used frequently. Nobody is stepping out and players keep inquiring about each other. Players were allowed to go to shops within a stipulated time in case of emergencies but nobody has ventured out. Such scenes will be present till the pandemic does not die down and players are coping to the best of their abilities," he added.

Regarding his own match, the multiple CWG medallist felt it would be foolish to expect a top notch performance in a short span of time. "I only practiced for an hour before the match. It was cold and I was quite rusty which was understandable. But I kept focussing on the process instead of trying too hard to finish the match quickly. And by the fifth game, I felt my match rhythm coming on nicely. Hopefully, next match I can pick up from where I left off."

COACHSPEAK

Up and running Dipa aiming for 2021 revival

SRINIDHI PR @Chennai

THE coronavirus pandemic may have affected many athletes' plans, but for gymnast Dipa Karmakar this is an opportunity to get back stronger. She can recover from her knee injury and hold on to whatever faint hopes she has of making a cut at the deferred Tokyo Olympics next year.

Dipa's coach Bisweswar Nandi has laready begun working with his ward to grab that chance. "Finding her groove is the top priority at the moment," he told this daily from Agartala. She has been out of action since March last year when she aggravated her knee injury during the Artistic Gymnastics World Cup — a qualifying event for the Olympics — in Baku.

With six of the eight gymnastics World Cups that acts as qualifying events for the Games having already been completed, Karmakar now pin hopes on the remaining two. The two World Cups are likely to begin next February or March. The 27-year-old is currently training at Netaji Subhash Regional Coaching Centre in Agartala.

"Dipa started training in the second week of August. We train once in the morning for five days a week. She has been showing good improvement," said Nandi. "In terms of fitness, she is not 100 per cent there yet. We are working on getting her back to how she was before the injury. It's a gradual process. In one or two months, she will be completely fit and should be able to get back to her full rhythm," said the Dronacharya Awardee.

To make the cut for the Games, she has to win two gold medals or one silver and gold in the two qualifying events. Nandi is hopeful that Dipa will leave no stone unturned. "Injury is a part of gymnast's life. She has recovered completely now. There are no international or national competitions this year. So that gives us time to prepare. I'm sure she will be make a strong comeback," added the coach.

VAR denies Liverpool in pulsating Merseyside derby

LIVERPOOL: Liverpool captain Jordan Henderson had a stoppage-time winner ruled out for offside as Everton twice came from behind to salvage their unbeaten start to the Premier League season in a pulsating Merseyside derby that ended 2-2. Everton have still not won a derby for 10 years, but manager Carlo Ancelotti will be the happier of the two managers to escape with a point after Henderson's strike did not stand for the most marginal of offside calls against Sadio Mane in the build-up following a VAR review. If Mane and Mohamed Salah scored for Liverpool, Micheal Keane and Dominic Calvert-Lewin found the back of the net for Everton, who finished with ten men after Richarlison was shown the red card late in the game. Everton are still unbeatean in the tournament. AFP

'Domestic season in Jan'

PTI @New Delhi

THE much awaited domestic cricket season will start from January 1, BCCI president Sourav Ganguly said on Saturday. The BCCI Apex Council met on Sunday and a good amount of time was spent on discussing the domestic calendar. "We have had extensive discussions on domestic cricket and we have tentatively decided to start the competitions from January 1, 2021," Ganguly said. When asked if it would be a curtailed season or not, he said the board won't be able to accommodate all domestic tournaments. "We will certainly have the full fledged Ranji redball tournament. It will probably not be possible to hold all tournaments."

BATSMEN NEED TO BE MORE FLEXIBLE: MORGAN

ASHOK VENUGOPAL @Chennai

KOLKATA Knight Riders' new captain Eoin Morgan attributed his team's top-order batting failure for his side's comprehensive defeat to Mumbai Indians in their IPL match. He said the batsment need to be more flexible in order "to turn things around" quickly.

After opting to bat first against Mumbai, KKR were reduced to 42 for four in the eighth over and half of their batsmen were back in the dressing room for 61 in the 11th over.

However, an 87-run unbroken stand for the sixth wicket between Morgan (39 not out) and Pat Cummins (53 not out) took them to a respectable 148 for five.

"With the batting early on, we made a few mistakes. Mumbai Indians bowled really well and proved exactly why they have been one of the form teams in the tournament so far," said Morgan.

"From here on, there is another area of improvement that we need to make strides on. We're just past the half-way stage in the tournament. There is no better time to turn things around," said he added.

Morgan insisted that the KKR batting order needs to be flexible and adaptable. "Given the strength and depth we have in our batting-line, and the different skill-levels and skill-sets that we have, we have to be as adaptable as possible going forward. While playing against different opposition, there are different match-ups that we feel we can make the most of our batting line-up, and hence the continued change in the order."

He also said KKR had a smooth transition after Karthik decided to step down from captaincy to focus on his batting.

Congenital heart defects not tied to severe Covid risk

Patients with cardiovascular anomalies more likely to develop moderate to severe symptoms, but no impact on symptoms severity

HEALTHCARE

NEW YORK: Adults and children born with heart defects had a lower-than-expected possibility of developing moderate or severe Covid-19 symptoms, according to a new study which cautioned that elderly patients with similar congenital conditions might have a different risk profile.

The scientists, including those from the Columbia University Irving Medical Center performed a retrospective analysis of more than 7,000 patients from the congenital heart disease centre at the Vagelos College of Physicians and Surgeons in the US.

According to the study, published in the Journal of the American Heart Association, only 53 congenital heart patients (43 adults and 10 children) — less than 0.8 per cent of patients at the heart centre — presented to their physician with symptoms of novel coronavirus infection from March through June.

The scientists said more than 80 per cent (43) of these patients had mild symptoms, nine developed moderate to severe symptoms, and three patients died.

"At the beginning of the pandemic, many feared that congenital heart disease would be as big a risk factor for severe Covid-19 as adult-onset cardiovascular disease," said study co-author Matthew Lewis.

"We were reassured by the low number of congenital heart patients who required hospitalisation for Covid-19 and the relatively good outcomes of these patients," Lewis said.

During the study period, the scientists said an estimated 20 per cent of people in the New York metropolitan area in the US are thought to have been infected with the coronavirus.

The researchers found that patients with a genetic syndrome and adults with advanced disease from their congenital heart defect were more likely to develop moderate to severe symptoms, though an individual's type of congenital heart defect did not impact symptoms severity.

Though the study sample was small, the scientists believe congenital heart disease alone may not be enough to increase the risk of severe Covid-19 symptoms. Citing the limitations of the conclusions drawn from the study, the researchers hypothesise that the patients may have adhered more strictly to social distancing guidelines compared with the general population, given the publicity about increased Covid-19 risk in patients with heart disease.

They cautioned that individuals with congenital heart disease should continue to practice strict social distancing and follow all CDC guidelines as these measures are likely contributing to the study findings.

The younger average age (34 years) of these patients and lower incidence of acquired cardiac risk factors compared with other individuals who had severe Covid-19 may explain why fewer congenital heart patients than expected had severe symptoms, the study noted.

"It's possible that elderly patients with congenital heart disease might have a different risk profile than the general population," said Brett Anderson, co-author of the study from Columbia University.

"We have yet to define what those risk factors are," Anderson added.

At the beginning of the pandemic, many feared that congenital heart disease would be as big a risk factor for severe Covid-19 as adult-onset cardiovascular disease. We were reassured by the low number of congenital heart patients who required hospitalisation for Covid-19 and the relatively good outcomes of these patients

Octopus inspiration for tissue grafting

Thin tissue grafts and flexible electronics have a host of applications for wound healing, regenerative medicine and biosensing. Now, a new device inspired by an octopus's sucker rapidly transfers delicate tissue or electronic sheets to the patient, overcoming a key barrier to clinical application. We take a look

For the last few decades, cell or tissue sheets have been increasingly used to treat injured or diseased tissues. A crucial aspect of tissue transplantation surgery, such as corneal tissue transplantation surgery, is surgical gripping and safe transplantation of soft tissues. However, handling these living substances remains a grand challenge because they are fragile and easily crumple when picking them up from the culture media

Hyunjoon Kong, study leader and professor of chemical and biomolecular engineering

PICKING UP TISSUES

1. The researchers designed a manipulator made of a temperature-responsive layer of soft hydrogel attached to an electric heater
2. To pick up a thin sheet, they gently heat the hydrogel to shrink it, then press it to the sheet and turn off the heat
3. The hydrogel expands slightly, creating suction with the soft tissue or flexible electronic film so it can be lifted and transferred
4. Then they gently place the thin film on the target and turn the heater back on, shrinking the hydrogel and releasing the sheet. This soft manipulator could move thin materials of interest in both wet and dry conditions

10 Seconds: Time taken by this new process

US-KOREA CollabORATION

Researchers from the University of Illinois, Purdue University and South Korea's Chung-Ang University and the Korea Advanced Institute for Science and Technology, published their work in the journal Science Advances

CONVENTIONAL TECH

Current methods of transferring the sheets involve growing them on a temperature-sensitive soft polymer. Once transferred, the tissue sheet shrinks and releases the thin film

LONG PROCESS

30-60 MINUTES

Estimated time to transfer a single sheet, which requires skilled technicians. There is also the added risk of tearing or wrinkling, said researchers

OCTOPUS TO THE RESCUE

Seeking a way to quickly pick up and release the thin, delicate sheets of cells or electronics without damaging them, the researchers turned to the animal kingdom for inspiration

The way an octopus or squid picks up both wet and dry objects of all shapes with small pressure changes in their muscle-powered suction cups, gave the researchers an idea

FURTHER RESEARCH

Researchers hope to integrate sensors into the manipulator, to further take advantage of their soft, bio-inspired design. This integration would allow researchers to monitor the deformation of target objects during contact and adjust the suction force to a level at which materials retain their structural integrity and functionality

EU approves HIV drug

MEDICINE

The EU's medicines regulator on Friday gave the green light for the first injectable treatment for the HIV virus that causes AIDS, which could change the lives of millions of people. The cocktail of two antiretroviral (ARV) drugs, rilpivirine and cabotegravir, can be given every few months instead of a daily pill to keep HIV infection under control. "The two medicines are the first ARVs that come in a long-acting injectable formulation," the European Medicines Agency said in a statement. The new cocktail of rilpivirine and cabotegravir — branded as Rekambys and Vocabria — work together "to block the ability of the virus to replicate," the Amsterdam-based agency said.

Couch potatoes are sharp too

RESEARCH

It is often advised not to sit for prolonged hours, but a new study has challenged the 'couch potato' belief, saying when it comes to the brain and cognition abilities, some sedentariness are not all that bad so long as basic physical activity benchmarks are met. The study employed a broad assessment that tested 16 cognitive tasks. Published in the journal Psychology and Aging, the results showed that as expected, adults who engaged in more moderate-to-vigorous activity had better speed, memory and reasoning abilities. However, the data also revealed that adults who spent more time sedentary performed better on vocabulary and reasoning tasks.

Two large space debris almost collide

ASTRONOMY

NEW YORK: In a big relief, two large pieces of orbital debris barely avoided colliding with each other this week although the chances of a smashup were calculated to be over 10 per cent by California-based space tracking company LeoLabs.

The two bodies, a dead Russian satellite and a spent Chinese rocket body, have a combined mass of about 2,800 kilogrammes, LeoLabs said.

A collision of the two objects would have created a huge cloud of debris as they were hurtling toward each other with a relative velocity of 52,950 kmph, Space.com reported on Friday.

The close approach of the two objects occurred at 1256 GMT on Friday. The two objects were named Cosmos 2004 and CZ-4C R/B.

A report on space debris by the ESA estimates that there are currently about 34,000 debris objects larger than 10 centimetres, about the size of a softball, currently in orbit.

The staggering amount of space debris poses a difficult challenge for safely operating spacecraft in lower Earth orbit without collision.

Scientists develop new method that disables coronavirus replication

HEALTHCARE

HOUSTON: Scientists have laid out an approach to block a protein that the novel coronavirus uses to cut and disable crucial components of the immune system and to produce copies of itself, an advance that may lead to new drugs against Covid-19.

The researchers, including those from the University of Texas Health Science Center at San Antonio (UT Health San Antonio), developed two molecules that inhibit the molecular "scissor" enzyme used by the coronavirus called SARS-CoV-2-PLpro. According to the study, published in the journal Science, SARS-CoV-2-PLpro promotes infection by sensing and processing both viral and human proteins. "This enzyme executes a double-whammy," said study's senior author Shaun K Olsen from UT Health San Antonio.

"It stimulates the release of proteins that are essential for the virus to replicate, and it also inhibits molecules called cytokines and chemokines that signal the immune system to attack the infection," Olsen said.

SARS-CoV-2-PLpro cuts human proteins ubiquitin and ISG15, which help maintain protein integrity by acting like a molecular scissor, he explained.

The scientists developed the inhibitors, which are very efficient at blocking the activity of SARS-CoV-2-PLpro, yet do not recognise other similar proteins in human cells.

"This is a critical point: The inhibitor is specific for this one viral enzyme and doesn't cross-react with human enzymes with a similar function," he added.

The researchers said this specificity would be a key determinant of the therapeutic value of the approach.

When the scientists compared SARS-CoV-2-PLpro against similar enzymes from coronaviruses of recent decades such as the 2002-03 SARS pandemic virus, they learned that it processes ubiquitin and ISG15 much differently than its counterpart.

BOVINE PSYCHOLOGY

Cows prefer direct 'co-moo-nication' with humans over recorded messages

ANIMAL KINGDOM

LONDON: After months of technology-based communication enforced by Covid-19, many may be missing a 'live' human interaction, but we are not the only ones feeling so — a new study reveals that cows too prefer a face-to-face chat.

The study, published in Frontiers in Psychology, discovered that cows are actually more relaxed when spoken to directly by a live human, rather than when listening to a recorded voice via a loudspeaker.

"Cattle like stroking in combination with gentle talking. In scientific contexts, a recording of a human voice speaking gently could be used to relax the animals, because it can be difficult to repeat the same phrases in the same way during experiments," said study author Annika Lange from the University of Veterinary in Austria.

Using a recorded voice means conditions are as similar as possible in each trial, following a concept known as "standardisation" — an important principle of scientific experimentation. However, the team of scientists wanted to find out if cows respond differently to the sound of recorded voices compared to a human talking directly to them.

"Our study suggests that live talking is more relaxing for our animals than a recording of a human voice. Interactions may be less positive when they become artificial through standardization," Lange added.

The team worked with a herd of 28 cattle, comparing the benefits of either stroking the animals while playing a recording of an experimenter's voice or stroking while speaking to the animals directly.

After monitoring the animals' responses during the experiments, they found live talking was the best mood enhancer for their bovine friends.

Heart rate variability was higher when cattle were spoken to directly, indicating they were enjoying themselves.

"When relaxed and enjoying the interaction, the animals will often stretch out their necks as they do when they groom each other. Additionally, it is thought that ear positions may indicate mood: hanging ears and low ear positions appear to be linked to relaxation," Lange said.

After this treatment, heart rates were lower than after listening to a recorded voice, showing that the animals were more relaxed following the live chat. Lange calls for further research to see if results are also valid for different herds and situations, such as with cows that are more fearful of humans.

"This will help in further studies on the improvement of cattle-human relationships, an important aspect of animal welfare," the study authors noted.
